

BRITAIN, TURKEY PLEDGE MUTUAL AID IN MEDITERRANEAN

Prime Minister Tells Commons of Temporary Agreement to Take Effect in Event of Any Act of Aggression.

LONG-TERM PACT TO BE NEGOTIATED

Not Aimed at Anyone, but Two Powers Decide Security in Balkans Is Necessary, Chamberlain Says.

LONDON, May 12 (AP).—Great Britain added Turkey to her European security lineup today with the two Governments pledging to aid each other in "event of an act of aggression leading to war in the Mediterranean area."

The pledges were announced in the House of Commons by Prime Minister Chamberlain pending conclusion of a "definitive long-term agreement of reciprocal character in the interest of their national security."

Asked whether an "act of aggression anywhere or only in the Mediterranean, the Prime Minister sidestepped with the answer: "It means an act of aggression which leads to war in the Mediterranean area."

The Prime Minister made clear the two countries had agreed to conclude the "definitive long-term agreement," but indicated that its details had not been fully worked out.

Another Link in Chain.
The announcement meant that Britain had forged another link in her chain of European security arrangements, the Turkish agreement supplementing British-French pledges of support already given to Poland, Rumania and Greece.

Of the Turkish agreement, Chamberlain said:
"This declaration is not directed against any country. It is designed to assure Great Britain and Turkey of mutual aid and assistance should the necessity arise."

"It was recognized by the two Governments that certain matters require more precise definition, and an examination of them is proceeding."

"The two Governments recognize that it is also necessary to establish security in the Balkans," Chamberlain continued, "and they are consulting together with the object of achieving this purpose as speedily as possible."

"This arrangement does not preclude either Government from making agreements with other countries in the general interests of the consolidation of peace."

Control of the Dardanelles.
Turkey is regarded in London as an invaluable ally in event of war largely because of her strategic position in the Eastern Mediterranean.

Through the Dardanelles, she holds the key to the Black Sea. She also would be in position to come to Britain's aid, if necessary, in Palestine and Egypt.

Britain also is trying to obtain Soviet Russia's adhesion to the bloc.

Clement R. Attlee, leader of the labor opposition in Commons, expressed satisfaction with Chamberlain's brief statement. He asked if it would be followed by British-Turkish staff talks.

Chamberlain said there would be no such talks until a full agreement had been signed.

French-Turkish Pact Held Up by Negotiations Over Hatay

PARIS, May 12 (AP).—Turkey's demands for the Republic of Hatay were said tonight in an authoritative diplomatic quarter to have delayed a French-Turkish mutual assistance agreement similar to the one announced today between Great Britain and Turkey.

An authoritative source said France and Turkey had been carrying on two parallel negotiations: 1. For co-operation in the Mediterranean in case of war.

2. For disposition of Hatay (formerly the District of Alexandretta), claimed by Turkey but forming a part of French-Mandated Syria.

Since an accord has not been reached on the second point, this source said, the projected French-Turkish statement had been withheld but French officials expressed hope of an agreement soon.

Competitive Tests to Be Held for Assemblers So Production Can Rise to 300,000 a Month.

EDGEWOOD ARSENAL, Md., May 12 (AP).—The Army Chemical Warfare Service sought today to replenish its list of gas mask assemblers.

The Civil Service Board announced competitive examinations would be held for assemblers, of whom 200 are now turning out 800 masks a day for the army and navy. Officials estimated production could be boosted to 300,000 a month with the employment of 1500 experienced employees.

Lieutenant-Colonel Charles F. Almy, commander of the post which was built during the World War for the manufacture and loading of gas, explained the present register of qualified assemblers is depleted and new assemblers are needed in event of sudden expansion.

GERLING FAVORS PENSIONING 350 SCHOOL TEACHERS

Superintendent Ready to Remove Aged Group but Doubts That It Can Be Done Legally.

$209,000 SAVING FIGURED IN SURVEY

Finance Committee Discusses Economies — Board's Income Below Outlay for Three Years.

Superintendent of Instruction Henry J. Gerling of the Board of Education said to a Post-Dispatch reporter today that he favored retirement on pension of more than 350 elderly members of the teaching corps, as recommended in the recent survey report, but was "not sure whether it could be done legally."

The proposal was made partly as a means of improving the character of instruction and partly as an economy. The survey recommended pensions ranging from $900 to $1500 a year, but showed that refilling the ranks with younger teachers at the bottom of the pay scale would result in a net saving of $209,000 for the fiscal year starting next July 1.

The board's Finance Committee met this afternoon, to start discussions on the survey report, the fact that expenditures have been exceeding income for the last three years. This was the committee's initial consideration of financial recommendations of the survey.

Dr. Gerling said that, under a recent amendment of the State constitution, he thought the board could pay pensions without further statutory authority. However, old Circuit and Supreme Court decisions, relative to the tenure of teachers, might make it impossible to retire them, he declared.

If Case Went to Court. It has been suggested that the courts might take a different view of the situation in the present circumstances, but Dr. Gerling said it would take a long time to settle the point if a retirement plan were adopted and objectors filed suit as it said. The board is confronted with a financial crisis which makes immediate economies necessary.

To bring about the retirement of superannuated teachers by filing charges against them and giving them trials before the board, to which they then would be entitled, would not be practicable, the superintendent said. There has been no official discussion of the problem, but board members and officers have had it in mind. The suggested age for retirement was 65.

Preliminary budget conversations of board members and officers have dealt almost altogether with proposals of the survey report, which recommended an expenditure of $11,332,000 in each of the next two years. Appropriations for the current year total $12,663,000.

The report urged economies of $26,000 a year, including the saving by the retirement of elderly teachers, a reduction of $150,000 in plant maintenance costs and a saving of $70,000 through eliminating unnecessary members of the janitorial and engine-room forces.

Renewed Talk of Pay Cut. No change in income from the level of the current year was counted on in the report, except an increase of $300,000 in revenue from the State school fund. Whether the Legislature will provide such an increase is problematical, but the surveyors discussed with school officials suggestions for revision of plans to offset the possible failure to get more money from the State.

They will probably offer alternative suggestions in that event. Richard Murphy, board member, announced yesterday that he could see no alternative in the movement for economy but a salary reduction for school employees receiving more than $1500 a year. Before the survey there was a fear among board members that a cut in salaries might be necessary, but Murphy is the first to renew this talk.

Eagleton Withdraws Proposal. Vice-President Mark D. Eagleton, who introduced a substitute bill for administrative reorganization of the board Tuesday night, notified Secretary-Treasurer Philip J. Hickory today he was withdrawing the proposal. He explained that his action was due to a Post-Dispatch editorial yesterday, "which constrains my amendments as favoring a spoils system," adding that he did not desire to be "a party to helping any spoils system."

He offered the original resolution demanding reorganization of management in February, he said, "because I wanted action in time to get legislative relief." His February proposal was followed by approval by the board of a bill for comprehensive reorganization, centering authority in the superintendent. This measure is pending in the Legislature. Eagleton's recent substitute bill would have given the superintendent general supervision over the building and finance departments as well as the instruction department, but did not

Bouncing $434 Check Just One More Barrymore Woe

JOHN BARRYMORE Arriving in Chicago.

Hotel Here Complains About Week's Bill Same Day Elaine Barrie Sues in Los Angeles to Divorce Actor.

Troubles continued to pile up yesterday for the aging but indomitable actor, John Barrymore. In St. Louis a warrant was issued charging him with "defrauding an inkeeper" because his $434 check to the Mayfair Hotel had been returned marked "insufficient funds."

Los Angeles his fourth wife, Elaine Barrie, filed the divorce action which had been announced in St. Louis two weeks ago.

In Chicago the embattled Barrymore said, with appropriate gestures, that the check charge was all a mistake. "Obviously," he added, "there was no intent to defraud."

His comment on the divorce suit had been made 10 days ago when he sued Miss Barrie and two other persons in New York for an accounting of $300,000 of his funds. The warrant was issued here by Associate Prosecuting Attorney Maurice Mushlin on complaint of Paul Lampe, credit manager of the Mayfair. Police were ready to send it by air-mail to Chicago and ask for Barrymore's arrest when Mushlin asked them to hold up action.

Warrant Still Held. "The warrant has not been withdrawn," Mushlin said. "Action was merely held up after the hotel, which had agreed to pay the costs of bringing Mr. Barrymore here, informed me that Mr. Barrymore's secretary had told them the matter would be taken care of. He said he would make the check good today. Meanwhile police still have the warrant."

Barrymore's check was given to the hotel on April 30 for one week's room, food, and drinks during the time he was rehearsing here in the autobiographical comedy, "My Dear make such extensive changes as the one before the Legislature, which was advocated in the survey. Eagleton said he favored unification of management and had thought that his recent proposal would give the superintendent full authority, with the effect of preventing the retention of any worthless or inefficient employee. His recommendation apparently failed to accomplish the purposes he had in mind, he said. He also declared he was completely in favor of economy recommendations in the survey report.

The board met this afternoon to consider the Eagleton substitute, which had been referred to Dr. Gerling and Attorney Emmet T. Carter for report. Carter said he would be guided by the Superintendent's decision. Eagleton has gone out of the city.

Conference on Survey. The first of a series of informal private conferences of the board's Building Committee and executives of the building department was also held this afternoon, to discuss the extensive recommendations of the survey concerning this department.

"We will study the survey recommendations thoroughly," John A. Fleischl, committee chairman, said to a Post-Dispatch reporter before the meeting. "We will adopt those which are feasible and justifiable. If the committee is told the proposals cannot be adopted, it will have to be shown why. We want to be fair about the survey and, if there is any good in it, we want to get it. If it is not practicable, we should have reasons, not guesswork."

One of the questions I am much interested in, is whether we should continue to generate electricity at the high schools, or buy it, as urged in the survey. We should go into that thoroughly. I have been studying the report as a preliminary."

The Auditing and Supply Committee will hold the first of several meetings to discuss survey recommendations with Supply Commissioner James J. Lee and Auditor William M. Susanna next week or the following week, Chairman Francis C. Sullivan announced.

Dr. Gerling has not had opportunity to digest educational recommendations of the survey preparatory for instruction committee discussion.

MISSOURI SENATE DEFEATS BILL TO GET AID FOR BLIND

Votes Down Measure That Would Have Qualified State for U. S. Grant of $1,000,000 a Year.

By a Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, May 12.—The McReynolds bill to place blind pension payments on the basis of need, which would have qualified the State for a Federal grant of more than $1,000,000 a year, was defeated in the Missouri Senate today.

As a result of the action there will be insufficient funds in the pension fund to meet the required payments, and blind pensioners in the last quarter of each year will be compelled to go without their pension payments, for more than three months.

The pension fund consists of the receipts from a tax of 3 cents on the $100 valuation on property. Until last year this was sufficient to meet the requirements, but lowered assessments of property and the large delinquency in payment of taxes has reduced the revenues. Last year the final quarterly payment, due Oct. 1, was not paid until January.

Under the Missouri law every person totally blind is entitled to a pension of $300 a year. To get Federal aid it is necessary to change the law making need the basis for pensions. The McReynolds bill proposed a change in the law which would have made eligible persons not totally blind but blind to a degree which rendered them unable to pursue gainful employment.

The bill would have transferred administration of the blind pension fund from the State auditor to the State Social Security Commission, and would have required an investigation of the 4000 pensioners to determine which were entitled to pensions.

Some of the opposition to the bill was occasioned by the fact that during this period of investigation many of the pensioners would have received no pensions. Some of the opposition was due to objections to taking the patronage which goes with the administration of the fund from the auditor and placing it in the commission.

In the 1937-38 biennium, pension requirements, including administration costs, exceeded receipts by more than $300,000. The total receipts into the pension fund in those two years were $2,290,337, while the pension for materials furnished in installation of a lighting system at the company's plants at Twenty-first and Olive and Twenty-first and Locust streets.

SENATOR RUES FACT BEST U. S. JOBS GO TO PRETTIEST GIRLS

Ellender Says There Ought to Be a Law About Beauty Winning Over Brains.

WASHINGTON, May 12 (AP).—Senator Ellender (Dem.), Louisiana, said today that when beauty and brains compete for a Government job, beauty most frequently wins.

The shapely ankle, the Senator remarked, gets a girl a good job more often than the skillful wrist of a superlative stenographer.

Ellender started an inquiry several weeks ago when some Government workers complained that efficient though they were, they remained in low-grade jobs while their prettier colleagues got promotions.

Since then, he has been trying to frame a law policy that would make merit alone the standard of employment and promotion.

His problem, he said, is complicated by the fact that most Government officials are men. It is a truism, he says, that men like pretty girls better than unattractive ones.

ALANSON D. BROWN HEIRS STILL KEEP SHARES SECRET

Acknowledge Satisfaction of Judgment; "Nothing Like" $459,000, One of Four Daughters Says.

The four daughters of the late Alanson D. Brown, millionaire shoe manufacturer, who settled a $1,818,215 judgment against the trustees of his estate recently after the heirs had taken an appeal to the State Supreme Court, acknowledged satisfaction of the judgment in Circuit Court today, still without disclosing the amount of the settlement.

Interests of the four in the judgment were as follows: Mrs. Jean Collins and Mrs. Warren F. McElroy, $459,553 each; Mrs. Maurice Ober and Mrs. Eugene Tittmann, $449,553 each. Mrs. McElroy said the heirs had agreed not to discuss the settlement but that her share was "nothing like" $459,553.

The heirs' suit alleged the St. Louis Union Trust Co. and Alanson C. Brown, son of the manufacturer, failed as trustees to sell certain shares of stock within the period prescribed in the elder Brown's will, causing a loss to the estate. The estate of Marvin Singleton, a successor trustee, not held liable for the judgment, acknowledged satisfaction of a claim for $15,000 for legal services, to be charged against the interests of Mrs. Ober and Mrs. Tittmann. Alanson C. Brown acknowledged satisfaction of a judgment of $700 for legal expenses.

THREE YEARS FOR SALE OF MARIJUANA WEED

Dupo Bartender Admits Growing, Curing and Peddling It to Young St. Louisans.

William Brewer of Dupo, a bartender, was sentenced to three years in a Federal prison by United States District Judge Fred L. Wham at East St. Louis today on his plea of guilty of selling the drug marijuana.

Following his arrest in St. Louis last week, Brewer admitted that he grew, cured and sold the weed to youthful St. Louisans. Among his customers were members of Negro "swing" orchestras, he said.

Gerald Dorsey, 69 years old, who has spent most of his time since 1912 in penal institutions throughout the country on charges ranging from larceny to attempted rape, drew a five-year sentence on a plea of guilty of driving a stolen automobile from his home, Terre Haute, Ind., to Vandalia, Ill.

Thomas Young Gregg, former cashier of the old City National Bank of Harrisburg, Ill., pleaded not guilty when arraigned on a charge of embezzling and misappropriating $21,916 of the bank's funds. He was released on $5000 bond.

He was indicted Tuesday, the day after Arthur Wilson, former assistant cashier, who has pleaded guilty and is awaiting sentence on a similar charge, appeared before the grand jury.

GRAND JURY INVESTIGATING PENDERGAST CALLS BANKER

Columbia National President Questioned; Another 100 to Lose Jobs in Kansas City.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., May 12 (AP).—Thornton Cooke, president of the Columbia National Bank, was questioned today by the Federal grand jury investigating income tax affairs of Tom Pendergast.

Payroll trimmings continued at the Courthouse and County Counselor John B. Pew said a pay cut of perhaps 10 per cent for workers seems quite as imminent as the dismissal of "at least 100 more" persons. About 100 have been discharged this month.

"We must save from $30,000 to $37,000 a month," Pew said. "When the May payrolls come through you'll see them pared. I have recommended the 10 per cent cut in my department."

Meanwhile, voting was light in the School Board's special election on a proposal to increase its levy from 9 to 10 mills. The Real Estate Board actively opposed the increase.

MOSCOW, May 12 (AP).—The noted Russian woman flyer, Capt. Polina Ossipenko, and Brigade Commander Anatole Serov were killed yesterday in an airplane crash. Details were not disclosed.

Capt. Ossipenko was one of three women who flew non-stop from Moscow to the Far East last Sept. 29 to establish a distance record of 3717 miles for women flyers. She and Serov both had won the title of "Hero of the Soviet Union," by their achievements.

Serov was known here and abroad as an ace stunt and speed flyer.

MAN'S NECK BROKEN WHEN BUS HITS AUTO FROM REAR

James F. Vest Had Made Stop for Signal; Other Driver Says Brakes Failed.

James F. Vest, 35-year-old shoe worker of 1407A South Compton avenue, suffered a broken neck last night when an automobile he was driving north on Jefferson avenue was hit in the rear by a bus when he stopped for an automatic traffic signal at Russell boulevard.

The impact caused his head to jerk backwards. The driver of the bus, Barney David, of 4960A Magnolia avenue, told police he applied the brakes in time but they failed to hold. Police arrested him on a charge of felonious wounding and careless driving. The bus was owned by the Missouri Pacific transportation Co.

F. B. I. OFFERS AID
IN ROUNDING UP
MURDERERS' RING

Philadelphia Prosecutor Has Big Job in Preparing Evidence for Mass Trials in 10 Days.

PHILADELPHIA, May 12 (AP).—The Federal Bureau of Investigation has offered its aid in dealing with the insurance-murder syndicate under investigation here, it was said today.

Working to clear a tangle of fantastic evidence in time for mass trials starting in 10 days, the Philadelphia investigators said they received word the facilities of the FBI would be available on request.

District Attorney Charles F. Kelley did not immediately ask for Federal help, but said aid would be welcome.

If the Department of Justice steps in, it was indicated, its aid primarily would be in tracing down fugitives and in making its laboratories available for analysis of poisons and other examination.

Already police list more than 40 persons as murdered and estimate the number may have been 100.

Federal agents are interested in the ring largely because the investigation has shown it extended from its Pennsylvania headquarters into New York, New Jersey, Delaware and possibly other Eastern states.

Two More Bodies to Be Exhumed.

Meanwhile, after hearings in which 13 men and women were held for trial or further hearing, two more bodies were ordered exhumed for poison tests.

The bodies were those of Abraham Sherman and Antonio Giacobbe. Their widows are among 24 persons held as members, customers and dupes of the ring which police say plotted more than 100 deaths by poison, drowning and faked accidents in the last 10 years.

Giacobbe's widow, Mrs. Millie Giacobbe, was one of 13 of the prisoners taken before Police Judges yesterday and held for trial, the grand jury, further hearing or extradition. Many had been arraigned previously, but were called up again on additional charges. Mrs. Giacobbe was charged with murder.

Witchcraft Practitioner.

Her arraignment and the subsequent order for exhumation of her husband's body brought prominently to the fore the name of a man known to police as a practitioner of witchcraft. He is Paul Petrillo, charged with murder and with being an accessory to murder.

Police Captain James Kelly said Mrs. Giacobbe had accused Petrillo in a statement of slowly poisoning her husband after making love to her.

"Petrillo told her that he would get rid of her husband and his wife, and then they could marry," Kelly said. "Paul took out insurance on Giacobbe's life, naming himself the beneficiary and describing himself as Giacobbe's nephew."

Detectives are checking on nine poison murders in New York City, Brooklyn, and Jersey City to determine whether Petrillo possibly was linked with them. Petrillo, a tailor shop operator, is a cousin of Herman Petrillo, who has been convicted of poisoning a WPA worker and now is facing the electric chair.

Held 60 Insurance Policies.

The investigation, designed to elaborate on the nine poisonings, but declared Petrillo was known to have held, as beneficiary, at least 60 insurance policies on the lives of persons either murdered or marked for murder. In each case, the investigator said, Petrillo described himself as a "nephew."

At the same time, Herman Petrillo, who has been aiding police, in an attempt to escape the electric chair, declared in a new statement that an itinerant fish peddler had been lured into a death plot against his wife on the promise he could then marry a "beautiful lady" who was "crazy about him" and had $20,000.

The peddler, Gaetano Penzo, died in a Philadelphia hospital after a mysterious illness and police said they believed he was killed by the ring to silence him. Detectives found him dead when they sought to question him about the death of his wife, also thought to be a victim of the ring.

He had been semi-conscious in a Salem (N. J.) hospital for 10 days before he was brought to the hospital here.

Herman Petrillo said in his statement that two members of the ring persuaded Penzo to increase insurance on his wife, telling him they would "fix it up" so he could marry the "wealthy lady." When the wife died, the plotters shared the insurance, Petrillo said.

45,000 Fewer Traffic Deaths in Daytime During 8-Year Period, Figures Disclose.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., May 12 (AP).—Night drivers killed 45,000 more persons than did day drivers in the last eight years, although day traffic was three times heavier, it was reported today to the Yale Bureau for Street Traffic Research.

Dudley M. Diggs of the General Electric Illuminating Laboratories reported that provisional estimates showed that 59.4 per cent of all 1938 automobile deaths occurred at night.

He attributed many night traffic deaths to poor and inadequate lighting, and cited Hartford, Conn.; Detroit, Chicago and Los Angeles as cities where night accidents have been substantially decreased through the improvement of lighting in main traffic arteries and danger zones.

LONDON PLANNING TO SETTLE REFUGEES IN BRITISH GUIANA

Government to Offer Facilities for Sending Many to Colony.

LONDON, May 12 (AP).—The British Government announced today that it hoped to begin a large-scale settlement of Central European refugees in British Guiana this fall.

Prime Minister Chamberlain, in a statement circulated in the House of Commons, said the Government would offer the fullest facilities for settlement and that it hoped "to contribute substantially to the solution of the distressing refugee problem."

Chamberlain said an experimental settlement would be financed by private sources but the British Government would co-operate fully and appoint the necessary administrative officers. The lands will be leased on generous terms, the statement said, and if prospects of development are good, Britain will provide the necessary communication lines, including roads.

NAZIS UNMOVED
BY CHAMBERLAIN SPEECH ON DANZIG

Berlin Observers Convinced
Germany Will Get What It Wants Without Shedding Any Blood.

By LOUIS P. LOCHNER.
BERLIN, May 12 (AP). — The statement yesterday of Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain that Great Britain stood ready to go to war in defense of Polish independence in Poland's dispute with Germany over Danzig was characterized in responsible Nazi quarters last night as "interesting but without any effect on the situation."

Nazis, now as before, regarded Danzig as a purely German question. "It is not even a German-Polish question, although the problem of the Corridor is," said one influential Nazi publicist and spokesman. He was confident the Danzig question would be solved without compromise "in the German way."

Asked if this might mean war, he said: "Between diplomatic negotiations and military action there is a wide space. This space has by no means been used up."

He would not commit himself further except to express firm conviction that Danzig would become part of Germany without a drop of blood being shed.

British-Rumanian Deal.
German officials cited the grant of $5,000,000 ($23,400,000) credits by Britain to Rumania as proof to the world that Germany is not trying to make vassals of the Balkan States. Germany won sweeping concessions from Rumania in a trade agreement between Berlin and Bucharest concluded two months ago.

"We do not feel our trade treaty with Rumania is in any way affected by the British credit," said a Foreign Office spokesman.

"Our treaty is not exclusive. Rumania's action in arranging the British credit shows Rumania is in no way an economic vassal of ours."

The Nazi press yesterday gave high praise to Italy's armed forces in what experienced observers considered an attempt to overcome doubts as to the value of Italy as an ally. Doubt of Italy's prowess is almost traditional among German veterans of the World War, although a decision to sign a German-Italian military alliance was announced last Sunday.

Despite the great increase in the Italian military establishment, foreign observers believed some German doubts remained.

Publicity in Italy.
Inspired publicity was given to Admiral Domenico Cavagnaro's recent statement before the Fascist chamber that Italy has more than 100 submarines ready for immediate action. The German press also told the public that Italy immediately could mobilize 20,000 flyers.

Gen. Giovanni Mariotti was credited with disclosing that Italy could mobilize twice the number of army divisions that were available in 1918—in other words, more than 100 divisions.

German readers were told, however, that in reality Italy's strength was greater than numbers could illustrate. Premier Mussolini's address yesterday to Italian reserve officers was quoted in this connection: "The strength of our arms undoubtedly is great. Even greater, however, is the strength of our hearts. When the hour comes we shall prove it."

The chief of Hitler's Munich press department, Dr. Adolf Dressler, addressed the German Academy in Berlin on the subject of Italian colonization in Libya.

"We Germans have every reason to watch this work with sympathy, for our day too must come when the colonies robbed from us will be restored," he said.

LONG BEACH, Cal., May 12 (AP).—A jury of six men and six women convicted Mrs. Mamie I. Zimmerman yesterday of assault with intent to murder her 14-year-old son, Clifton.

Mrs. Zimmerman, 34-year-old gambling ship cashier, will go before the same jury today for trial on a new plea of not guilty by reason of insanity.

Mrs. Zimmerman was convicted of stabbing her son as he slept March 17. A physician testified the wounds were superficial except for a deep throat cut. The prosecution called Mrs. Zimmerman a "cold blooded woman who wanted her son out of the way because he didn't fit into her scheme of life."

HIGHWAY PATROL UPHELD IN REPORT BY GRAND JURY

Cole County Body Finds Evidence Insufficient to Warrant Action Against State Police.

NO COMMENT ABOUT
USE AS HERALDS

Report Declares County Is Free of Major Crime and That It Found No Gambling of Any Kind.

By the Jefferson City Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, May 12.—The Cole County grand jury, which was directed by Circuit Judge Sevier last February to investigate alleged "flagrant, unlawful use" of the State Highway Patrol, including work of the patrol here in a State-wide slot machine and gambling inquiry by Gov. Stark and Attorney-General McKittick in 1937, filed its final report with the Judge late yesterday, giving the Highway Patrol a "clean bill."

Judge Sevier, who also had charged the jury to investigate "unlawful use" of the patrol as "heralds, escorts and rear guards for distinguished State officers," accepted the report without comment on the favorable finding for the patrol.

The jurors made short work of that part of their report dealing with investigation of the patrol's activities, confining it to one brief paragraph, as follows:

"Certain rumors of misuse and misconduct of the Missouri State Highway Patrol have been brought to the attention of this jury. After making a thorough investigation of all these rumors, we find no evidence of sufficiently serious nature to warrant any definite action being taken in this connection."

No indictments returned.

No indictments were returned by the grand jury, which has been in session at intervals since it convened last Feb. 6, and it reported Jefferson City and Cole County were free of any major violations of the law.

The jury reported finding no gambling of any nature in the city or county, but the report condemned the practice of State penitentiary officials in permitting convicts to drive State-owned automobiles and trucks on the streets of Jefferson City without being accompanied by a prison guard.

While the Judge did not name any State officials in his attack on the Highway Patrol in his jury charge last February, it plainly was directed at the use of patrolmen as investigators by the Governor and McKittick in their gambling and slot machine investigation in 1937, and also to use by the Governor of State patrolmen as escorts on the highways when he is traveling about the State on official matters.

Ouster Suit Against Prosecutor.
An outgrowth of the 1937 investigation was the filing of an ouster proceeding in the Missouri Supreme Court by Attorney-General McKittick against Prosecuting Attorney Carl F. Wymore of Cole County, in which McKittick charged Wymore had failed to enforce the laws against gambling and slot machines in the capital and Cole County. The suit was based largely on information obtained by State patrolmen.

The ouster suit against Wymore is pending in the Supreme Court, but the Court's special commissioner filed a report last week recommending dismissal of the case on the ground the Attorney-General had failed to prove the charges. He held Wymore had no actual knowledge of the alleged law violations. Judge Sevier referred to this ouster proceeding in his grand jury charge. He asserted highway patrolmen had been taken from their regular duties and sent into various places, including Jefferson City, "to gather alleged evidence upon which might be erected, not violation of any law which the Highway Patrol was created to protect, but an ouster proceeding against Cole County's Prosecuting Attorney."

Judge Criticizes Patrol.
The Judge had criticized the police activities of the patrol, declaring that while it had police powers, it was dedicated by law to policing the highways of the State and enforcing traffic laws.

The Cole County Democratic organization, which supported Judge Sevier for election, has not been on friendly terms with either the Governor or Attorney-General, due in part to the ouster proceeding against the Prosecutor. State representative H. P. Lauf of Jefferson City, affiliated with the organization, introduced a bill in the current session of the Legislature which would have stripped the patrol of all powers except traffic law enforcement. The bill was killed. Lauf also failed in an attempt to cripple the patrol by cutting its authorized strength more than one-half.

The grand jurors reported finding no violations of election laws, and stated the game and fish laws were being well enforced in the county.

In their report of finding no gambling in the county the jurors stated they were "not unmindful" that testimony was given before a commission appointed by the Supreme Court to the effect that some two years ago slot machines were being operated in the city and county. This referred to testimony in hearings in the Wymore ouster case.

"However," the report concluded, "bearing in mind the cost of prosecution and the doubt of convictions being obtained, it is the opinion of this body that indictments at this time would be a waste of the taxpayers' money."

BODY OF MISSING OZARK CHILD FOUND IN CURRENT RIVER

Near Eminence, Mo.

EMINENCE, Mo., May 12 (AP).—The body of 3-year-old Dean Williams, subject of an extensive hunt in the Ozarks area north here since he disappeared Tuesday, was found lodged in willows in the rain-swollen Current River today.

The child, grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Williams, farmers, wandered from home while Mrs. Williams was busy with household duties. His tracks led to the river.

Dynamite was used earlier today in the river in an effort to raise the body. Persons who thought the child had not drowned, searched the surrounding hills.

YOUTH WHO SENT EXTORTION NOTE IS PUT ON PROBATION

Chetser Piskac, Roosevelt High

Chester Piskac, 17 years old, pleaded no contest to a charge of extortion before United States District Judge Charles B. Davis yesterday and was sentenced to five years in the penitentiary. He was immediately placed on probation, however, until he reaches his majority, which will be in three and one-half years.

The youth, a student at Roosevelt High School, had admitted when he was arrested two weeks ago that he sent a letter to Mrs. Rudolph Sitner, 1909 Allen avenue, demanding $300 on pain of killing her daughter. His attorney informed the Court yesterday that he had had no criminal intent.

Piskac, who sobbed in court yesterday, lives at 3240A Ohio avenue. Mass for McBride High Alumni. The Rev. HOW COME?
"More men wear Bond Clothes than any other clothes in America"

It happens like this. Mr. and Mrs. Jones are window shopping. Mr. Jones needs clothes. Bond's display catches their eye. Says Mr. Jones, "These look like expensive suits." Says the Mrs., "They do, but just look at those prices." So in they go, both thinking "how come so much for so little?" And the salesman tells how all Bond Clothes are made in Bond's own plants. And how this keeps Bond prices down by cutting out third-party profits. Which is something very few clothiers can say. Mr. Jones likes the way the clothes fit. Mrs. Jones recognizes superior woolen quality. The salesman flashes that extra pair of trousers—at no extra cost. And it's all over. Mr. Jones tells his friends, and they tell theirs. This has been going on for 31 years. Do you wonder more men wear Bond Clothes than any other clothes in America? Even more important, they keep on repeating year after year. Just as you will, after your first taste of Bond's "champagne quality" at club soda prices. How about starting today or tomorrow?

WORLD SPENDING BILLION A MONTH FOR ARMAMENTS

Cost in 1938 Six Times Higher Than in 1928, International Settlements Bank Says.

BASEL, May 12 (AP).—The bank of international settlements estimated today that the world is spending $1,000,000,000 a month on armaments. Based on statistics which the bank said were incomplete but nevertheless showed the trend of defense expenditures, a estimate said the total cost of war armaments during 1938 had increased six times over that of 1928. Citing Great Britain's 1938-1940 defense budget of at least $830,000,000 (currently about $2,948,400,000), the bank said that it represented about 14 per cent of the national income. The report added that similar proportions are found in some other countries.

"Moreover, the burden threatens to be higher because one aspect of present armaments is the rising amount required for maintenance and replacements," the bank said. It asserted that mounting defense expenditures also are "becoming a predominant influence in every sphere of economic life and raise problems of a fundamental nature which must be faced in all countries, whatever their political or economic orientation."

"The same problems are present everywhere and it depends on the stage of development whether they make themselves felt as present difficulties or in the future."

HOSPITAL DAY PRIZE FOR BABY OF BOAT PILOT

Group Service Society to Pay Expense of Day's First Arrival.

A boy born to Mrs. George Muscovalley, wife of a ferryboat pilot, at 20 seconds past last midnight, was the first child delivered in a hospital in St. Louis or St. Charles on National Hospital day. The hospital expenses will be paid by the Group Hospital Service in conformity with an annual custom.

Born at St. Anthony's Hospital, the child weighed six pounds and four ounces. The parents, who live at 8018 Reilly avenue, have one other child, a girl, 8 years old.

Hospitals throughout the city held open house today in observance of the anniversary of the birth of Florence Nightingale.

LIQUOR ENFORCEMENT BILLS SIGNED BY STARK

Three Measures in Effect 90 Days After Legislature Adjourns.

By a Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, May 12.—Three bills, designed to provide a more stringent enforcement of the State liquor laws, were signed yesterday by Gov. Stark and will become effective 90 days after adjournment of the Legislature.

Two of the measures, introduced by Senator Phil Donnelly of Lebanon, will require the State Supervisor of Liquor Control to notify prosecuting officials in the various counties of complaints made to or by him of alleged liquor law violations in their counties.

This is proposed so that prosecuting officials may be kept informed of the complaints made in Jefferson City and so that they may prosecute persons violating the laws under the misdemeanor and felony statutes. The liquor control supervisor has no power to fine or imprison such violators, but may only suspend or revoke liquor licenses.

Under the new law, the Supervisor must send a list of complaints each month to the prosecuting officials in the counties in which the alleged violations occurred. In the case of St. Louis, he must notify both the Circuit and Prosecuting Attorneys.

The prosecutors must also be notified of all cases in which the supervisor revokes or suspends a liquor license, so that if the alleged violations include a criminal charge the prosecutors may proceed further in the cases. All information sent to the prosecutors will be sent also to the Attorney General, who has the authority and is required to check on the enforcement activities of the prosecutors.

The law will require prosecuting officials to inform the Liquor Control Supervisor every three months of the action they have taken on the complaints, or in connection with the revocation or suspension of licenses.

The other bill changes the punishment to be assessed against liquor manufacturers or wholesalers when they are found guilty of violating a law which prohibits them to furnish equipment or financial aid to retailers. The present penalty, which calls for outright revocation of their license or permit, has been regarded as too stringent and as a result this law has not been enforced. The new law fixes the penalty at a $1000 fine for the first offense, $5000 fine for the second, and revocation of license for the third offense.

SCULPTOR ASKS COURT TO FIND WORLD'S FAIR LINCOLN STATUE

Federal Officials Said Piece Was Not Suitable and Removed It From New York Exhibit.

NEW YORK, May 12 (AP).—Sculptor Louis Slobodkin appealed today to the State Supreme Court yesterday to help him find the Abraham Lincoln statue he made for the Government's New York World's Fair display.

Four days before the fair opened, he said, the statue was in place in the fountain in front of the million-dollar Federal Building; when the fair opened, it was gone. Federal officials explained that it was deemed not suitable.

Announcing his intention of suing the Government's Fair Commission, Slobodkin obtained an order from Justice Samuel Rosenman for the commissioners to show cause Tuesday why they shouldn't disclose what happened to the statue.

Has Married 1500 Couples.

PARIS, Mo., May 12.—The Rev. R. T. Colborn, for 53 years a minister in Monroe County, celebrating his 82d birthday, estimated he has married more than 1500 couples, buried almost as many and baptized several hundred. His first pastorage was at Walkersville, Shelby County, brought $116.50 per year for quarter-time work. He recalls several baptisms when it was necessary to cut several inches of ice to get to the river pool.

ROOSEVELT WANTS UNDIVIDED PROFITS TAX OR SUBSTITUTE

ferred at the beginning of his talk to one very great newspaper that, he said, had omitted half of a sentence he had spoken at a press conference on taxes last year. Several times he referred to the other half of the sentence, meaning that there would be tax revision if substitute taxes could be found.

In stressing the need for the undistributed profits tax, the President said that it was essential to prevent the practice of those who controlled closely held corporations from leaving the profits in the paper. "I meant to say 'company,'" he added quickly, smiling at this slip that appeared to his listeners to have been not exactly unintentional. In the past the President has made references to family-

Need of Substitutes.

Wealth accumulates in such corporations without being subject to any form of taxation, the President said. Of course, when the owners died, then it could be taxed, but not until that time. The President referred to this as legal tax evasion.

Summing up on tax revision, he said that: (1) The same amount of money would have to be returned to the Treasury and therefore substitutes would have to be found for any taxes repealed; (2) If the undistributed profits tax was repealed, some other way would have to be found to prevent this form of legal tax evasion.

Unofficially at the Treasury it was said that apparently the President reached his $250,000,000 estimate of revenue loss if the corporation taxes are repealed by adding the $139,000,000 derived last year from the capital stock tax and the $36,500,000 that came from the excess profits tax, with the balance made up of revenue who wanted to remove other business restrictions. This should be the move for tax revision and borne in mind in any discussion of the repeal of business levies came, tax revision, he added.

JUDGE CHARLES B. FARIS MEMORIAL SERVICE HELD

Eulogy Is Read and Brief Speeches of Reminiscence Are Made —200 Attend.

A memorial service for Judge Charles B. Faris, who was a member of the Federal judiciary for 19 years until his death last December, was held today in the courtroom of United States District Judge Charles B. Davis in the Federal Building.

Most of the 200 in attendance at the hour-and-a-half-long ceremony were lawyers. A eulogy which had been prepared by a committee of lawyers and friends of Judge Faris was read by Frank Y. Gladney. There followed brief speeches of reminiscence by various acquaintances.

In closing the service Judge Davis said: "The record and tradition of Judge Faris is and will ever be the priceless heritage of this court."

Judge Faris, who was 74 years old, was United States District Judge from 1919 to 1935, when he was appointed to the District Court of Appeals. He retired from active duty after a year, but remained a member of the bench until his death.

COWBOYS YIP IT UP AT SPRING HORSE SHOW

Girls, too, From Way Out West in the County, Fill Air With Dust and Whooping.

Cowboys and cowgirls, some from the farthest reaches of St. Louis County, whooped up a lively note of informality last night at the opening of the annual St. Louis Spring Horse Show at Missouri Stables Arena. In bright silk shirts and figured chaps and riding pinto ponies with high Western saddles, they filled the air with dust and yipping as they competed strenuously for a special trophy.

They wheeled, reared, sprinted and made dangerous sliding stops and as a finish took turns snaking up with their ropes on a wary sack of sand. Winner of the event was Charles H. Fisher, riding Ace, owned by John H. Voltz. Chester Roberts was the outstanding rider last night, winning both of the jumping events. In the working hunter class he rode Gay-Pete, owned by Trails End Stables, and was selected on the basis of hunting pace, manners and style of jumping. The knockdown-and-out class, an elimination contest, attracted a good deal of enthusiasm from the crowd. It was watched carefully from the center of the arena by a young man with a horn who sounded immediate taps for those whose horses kicked down a pole. Roberts won, after several rounds on Feather-Rock, also owned by Trails End Stables.

Girl Injured Slightly. There was only one accident in the 12 events, although several times the jumpers came near to taking bad spills. Miss Suzanne Buckner of the Academy of the Visitation was unhurt in the school horsemanship class for girls and was carried to the center of the ring, unconscious. She was not seriously injured.

The show will be concluded tomorrow night. On tonight's program, which starts at 7:45 o'clock, there are classes for adult and children jumpers, harness and saddle horses and events for student riders. The cowboys will compete again.

M. L. ANNENBERG TAX INQUIRY BEGINS JUNE 5

U. S. Attorney at Chicago to Present Evidence to Grand Jury Then.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

CHICAGO, May 12. — United States Attorney William J. Campbell of Chicago announced today that the Moses L. Annenberg income tax case would be presented to a grand jury for investigation June 5.

Campbell today received the complete file on the case from Attorney-General Frank Murphy and said it had been sent to him "for a full and complete investigation by the Federal grand jury of possible criminal intent to avoid payment of income taxes."

The amount of the tax alleged to have been evaded was not disclosed but Campbell said the case covered the years 1933-1936. An Assistant Attorney-General and an observer from the Justice Department's anti-trust division will sit in on all grand jury sessions, he said, indicating the possibility of monopoly charges to follow the income tax inquiry.

"My information from the Attorney-General's office does not say there is or isn't a case in the file submitted," Campbell said. "The evidence, therefore, does not warrant saying that Annenberg has committed a crime. That will be up to the grand jury."

Annenberg, publisher of the Philadelphia Inquirer and various racing information services, has been under Federal investigation for almost two years. Recently he made a special trip to see Attorney-General Murphy in what was described as an effort to compromise the case.

The Annenberg case was brought to Chicago because this is the headquarters for the publisher's widespread net of racing information services. He is being accused in a separate civil proceeding of operating a monopoly in the racing service field here.

Campbell made no mention of the tax investigation being made of the affairs of William R. Skidmore, a figure in Cook County's gambling affairs, which had been considered similar to the Annenberg case. It was indicated that this file still was in Washington and would follow the Annenberg case to Chicago.

Because of the magnitude of the Annenberg case, and the fact the Government has announced that "the entire Annenberg financial structure will be scrutinized," at least two months and possibly three may be required for the grand jury work.

In this event, the June grand jury would be reconvened as a special grand jury July 1 to continue the inquiry. The June jury convened June 5 and will start immediately on the Annenberg case.

Text of Chamberlain's Speech
Announcing Pact With Turkey

LONDON, May 12 (AP).—The text of Prime Minister Chamberlain's announcement of the British-Turkish accord in the House of Commons, today, with subsequent questions and replies, follows:

His Majesty's Government in the United Kingdom and the Turkish Government have entered into close consultations and discussions which have taken place between them and which are still continuing have revealed their customary identity of view.

It is agreed that the two countries will conclude a definitive long-term agreement of reciprocal character in the interests of their national security.

Pending completion of a definitive agreement His Majesty's Government and the Turkish Government declare that in the event of an act of aggression leading to war in the Mediterranean area, they will be prepared to co-operate effectively and to lend each other all aid and assistance in their power.

Not Against Any Country. This declaration, like the proposed agreement, is not directed against any country but is designed to assure Britain and Turkey of mutual aid and assistance should necessity arise.

It is recognized by the two governments that certain matters, including various conditions which would bring reciprocal engagements into operation, will require closer examination before an agreement can be completed.

This examination is proceeding. The two governments recognize that it is also necessary to insure establishment of security in the Balkans and they are consulting together with the object of achieving this purpose as speedily as possible.

It is understood the arrangements above mentioned do not preclude either government from making agreements with other countries in the general interests of consolidation of peace.

A similar declaration is being made in Ankara this evening.

Asks About Staff Talks. Clement R. Attlee, leader of the Labor opposition: While expressing satisfaction which I am sure we all feel at the statement made by the Prime Minister, may I ask whether this agreement will be followed by staff talks?

Chamberlain: I do not think that will arise until a definitive agreement has been concluded. Arthur Henderson: May I ask whether this declaration is covered by article 19 of the Montreux convention which deals with the passage of British ships into the Black Sea and whether such an agreement is the assistance of Rumania in the event of that country being attacked?

Chamberlain: The statement I read out obviously does not cover specific points of that kind. It is agreed the two countries will conclude a definite long-term agreement. Matters of that kind will not doubt be considered then.

Wedgwood Benn: Does that mean that the limit which at present exists on entry of ships into the Black Sea is now waived?

Chamberlain: It does not mean anything more than I have said. Commander Fletcher: Was the term Mediterranean area as so employed in order to exclude the Dardanelles and Black Sea?

Chamberlain: No, sir.

He Avoids a Definition. Frederick Cocks: I do not want to press the Prime Minister but will he define more clearly what is meant by Mediterranean area? Does it mean other seas leading out of the Mediterranean such as the Adriatic and Black Sea and so on?

Chamberlain: I would prefer not to give a definition. Geoffrey L. Mander: Does the Prime Minister not consider that if this potentially valuable agreement is to come into force at once it is essential to start conversations now and not wait possibly months for another agreement?

No reply was given. Campbell Stephen: Can the Prime Minister give assurance that it is not part of this agreement that conscription of young men in this country shall be added to beyond the class 20-21 already before the House?

No answer was given.

"Really Cannot Say." Ben Smith: May I ask whether there is already an agreement between Turkey and Russia for passage of ships into the Black Sea and whether such an agreement will be embodied in the terms of the definitive agreement?

Chamberlain: I really cannot say what will be included in the terms of the definitive agreement at this stage.

Samuel Silverman: Will he say whether an act of aggression leading to war in the Mediterranean area means an act of aggression anywhere or an act of aggression in the Mediterranean?

Chamberlain: It means an act of aggression which leads to war in the Mediterranean area.

IRELAND NEUTRAL IN WAR.
ITS VICE-PREMIER SAYS

Sean T. O'Kelly, in New York to Open Fair Pavilion, States Nation's Stand.

NEW YORK, May 12 (AP).—In case of war the Irish Vice-Premier, Sean T. O'Kelly said today, Ireland will remain neutral.

O'Kelly arrived aboard the United States liner Washington to open the Irish pavilion at the New York World's Fair tomorrow. He was pressed into service on 24 hours' notice after Premier Eamon de Valera decided the European situation, and particularly the British conscription law, demanded he stay at home.

"We have told the world, and Great Britain in particular, that we would be neutral," O'Kelly said. "Of course, in case of war there would be great difficulties, since 80 per cent of Irish exports are to England. There is a question whether an enemy of England would regard us as neutral if we continued to trade with England and supply it with food. Only actuality can answer that question."

O'Kelly was accompanied by John J. Hearne, legal adviser of the Department of External Affairs and Kathleen O'Connell, private secretary to Premier de Valera.

VATICAN CITY, May 12 (AP).—Pope Pius XII today received Regent Prince Paul and Princess Olga of Yugoslavia in his Vatican apartment. They were together about 20 minutes before members of the Prince's suite were admitted.

The Pope wore a white cassock. Prince Paul was dressed in the uniform of a cavalry general in the Yugoslav Royal Guards. Princess Olga wore the formal black gown and veil which tradition requires for papal audiences.

Earlier Monsignor Giovanni Montini of the Papal Secretariat of State presented the Prince with the insignia of the Order of the Golden Spur.

CUT OF $780,000 IN APPROPRIATIONS BY SENATE BODY

Legislative Committee Proposes Reductions in Allowances House Made in Five Bills.

HEAVIEST SLASH IN CIVIL LIST

Dail Plans Amendment to Make Available More Money for Social Security Expenses.

By a Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, May 12.—The Senate Appropriations Committee reported five appropriation bills to the Senate last night, proposing reductions totaling $780,000 from the allotments made by the House.

The cuts were all in allotments from State general revenue funds. The largest was made in the civil list appropriation measure, which provides for the salaries and expenses of the various State officials.

The appropriation for Gov. Lloyd C. Stark was cut from $105,600, as proposed by the House, to $83,500. The Governor's fund for the employment of clerks and special investigators was reduced from $37,000 to $22,000.

The committee increased the appropriation for the Attorney-General's office about $60,000, but refused to provide $50,000 additional requested by Attorney-General Roy McKittick for special crime investigations in Kansas City and St. Louis. McKittick said he would need $100,000 for the investigations, ordered last December by Gov. Stark, but House gave him only $50,000 for this purpose and the Senate Committee did not increase the amount.

The increases awarded to the Attorney-General were for prosecution of delinquent income and sales taxes cases, prosecution of liquor law violations and for expenses in the printing of briefs and other legal documents.

Missouri U. Fund Cut.

The appropriation bill for support of the State universities and teachers' colleges was cut $248,116. The University of Missouri appropriation was reduced $223,116, but the Senate Committee approved $100,000 for the construction of a men's dormitory, making the net reduction $123,116.

Senator Delmar Dail of Marcelline, chairman of the committee, told a Post-Dispatch reporter he planned to offer an amendment on the floor of the Senate to provide for the payment of the State university's appropriation out of the fund provided for support of the public schools. The university's appropriation out of general revenue now stands at $3,874,747.

Dail said that he would propose the amendment for the purpose of making available additional funds for Social Security expenses, principally aid to dependent children, direct relief and administrative expenses.

What Dail's Change Will Do. The House has allotted $5,000,000 for relief, $3,250,000 for children's aid and $2,000,000 for administration, while the State Social Security Commission says it will need $12,500,000 for relief, $6,450,000 for children's aid and $4,000,000 for administration, or a total of $12,700,000 more than the House appropriated.

If Dail's amendment is adopted and the university funds are taken from the part of general revenue set aside for schools, instead of from the remainder, the additional amount thus made available for relief still will be about $9,000,000 short of meeting State requirements.

The Senate Appropriations Committee also cut $10,000 off the appropriations for each of the five State teachers' colleges. Appropriations for the State penal institutions were reduced $127,000 and the allotments for the eleemosynary institutions were increased $34,000. The committee reported to the Senate the $47,035,000 highway department appropriation bill without change. All of the funds allotted to the department are from special taxes and fees, and none comes from the general revenue fund.

CARGO UNMOVED SECOND DAY IN PORTLAND DOCK TIE-UP

Arbitration Efforts Continue in CIO-Employers' Dispute; Seven Ships Affected.

PORTLAND, Ore., May 12 (AP).—Cargo remained untouched on Portland docks today, the second day of the port closure ordered by the Waterfront Employers Association after longshoremen refused to load the freighter William Luckenbach.

A day-long arbitration conference yesterday failed to break the dead-lock. It will be continued today.

Seven ships were affected by the tie-up. Two more were due today. Several vessels departed after the closure with part cargoes, others with holds only partially unloaded. Some freighters were diverted to other ports.

The tie-up followed a week's unsuccessful effort to force CIO dockmen to load the Luckenbach which was picketed by the CIO Maritime Office Workers' Union until a court restraining order was issued.

BILL IN SENATE FOR REPEAL OF NEUTRALITY ACT

Gillette of Iowa Proposes as Substitute That President Have Power to Restrict Shipping.

WINS APPROVAL IN BOTH PARTIES

Roosevelt Reported to Have Been Told House Committee Favors Outright
Abrogation.

WASHINGTON, May 12 (AP).—A proposal by Senator Gillette (Dem.), Iowa, to repeal the neutrality law and substitute presidential restrictions on American shipping in wartime won bipartisan support today in the Senate Foreign Relations Committee.

Gillette's resolution, drawn with the knowledge of the State Department but not bearing its specific endorsement, was regarded in some quarters as a possible compromise in the neutrality situation.

At the same time, there were reports the White House had been informed by Acting Chairman Bloom of the House Foreign Affairs Committee that there appeared to be a majority sentiment in his group for outright repeal of all neutrality legislation.

Bloom, who conferred recently with the President, is expected to discuss neutrality legislation with him again soon.

There were indications, however, that some administration leaders in Congress hope to postpone any debate on the neutrality question until European tension abates.

Approval for Gillette Plan.
Gillette's proposal received immediate approval from Senators Connally (Dem.), Texas, and Johnson (Rep.), California. Senator George (Dem.), Georgia, indicated he might support it, and Senator White (Rep.), Maine, said: "It's worth serious consideration as a possible solution of the neutrality problem."

On the other hand, Senator La Follette (Prog.), Wisconsin, one of the leaders of the so-called mandatory neutrality bloc, expressed opposition.

Gillette proposed to repeal the present neutrality law except the sections restricting financial dealing with warring nations and setting up the Munitions Control Board.

His resolution would give Congress, as well as the President, the power to decide that a state of war exists. The President then would be empowered to fix conditions on which American ships might go or Americans might travel only at their own risk.

Bill Lifts Arms Embargo.
In this the bill differs from a resolution by Chairman Pittman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, which embodies the combat zone principle but provides penalties for those who send ships into such zones.

Senator Schwellenbach (Dem.), Washington, said he thought that even if ship owners were notified they sent their vessels into such zones at their own risk, the sinking of an American ship might arouse an emotional reaction that would lead this country into war.

The Gillette proposal would repeal the present embargo on the sale of arms to belligerents, a step reported to be desired by State Department officials.

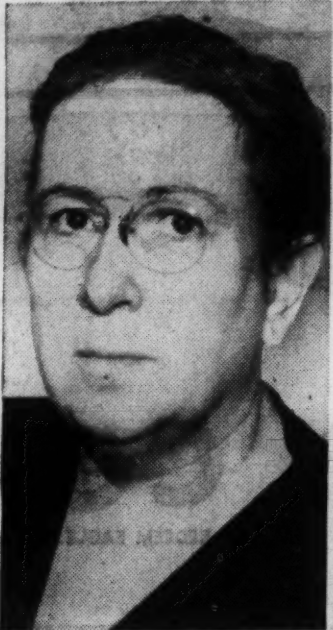

Statement by Borah.
Meanwhile, Senator Borah (Rep.), Idaho, asserted he could see no reason why this country could not maintain its neutrality at all times "if we would keep out of European affairs and not be concerned with Europe's controversies."

"The trouble is," Borah said, "that the Government of the United States cannot seem to divorce itself from the desire to play Power politics to mix in the Power politics of Europe."

He pointed to the maintenance of neutrality during the World War by Norway, Denmark, Finland and Sweden, asserting that these nations have "said to Hitler, and in effect the world, 'We are going to be neutral and run our own business in our own way.'"

"That ought to afford some comfort and courage to people in this country who think we cannot keep out of war, that we cannot be neutral and that we cannot maintain our own national policy."

WOMAN PHYSICIANS OPEN SESSION TONIGHT

150 at Medical Association Dinner to Hear Report on Refugee Work.

The twenty-fourth annual convention of the American Medical Women's Association, opening tonight with a banquet at Hotel Jefferson, will be attended by more than 150 woman physicians throughout the country, including Dr. Esther Pohl Lovejoy, executive director of the American Women's Hospitals, who will make a report on the organization's refugee work abroad, and maternity welfare work at home.

Following the banquet, Dr. Harriet S. Cory of St. Louis, executive secretary of the Social Hygiene Association, will talk on "What Next for Social Hygiene?" and Dr. Helen Gage of Webster Groves will discuss diseases of the upper respiratory tract.

The annual business meeting will start tomorrow morning at 9 o'clock, followed by a luncheon on "The hard of hearing in public schools," by Dr. Aphrodite J. Hoffmeyer of St. Louis and on "Meningitis complications," by Dr. Lois Wyatt of Kirkwood.

Sunday's program includes a meeting of the board of directors at 9:30 o'clock in the morning and a luncheon meeting at which Dr. Ellen Loeffel of St. Louis will discuss "New Developments in the Endocrine Therapy of Menstrual Disorders." There will be a sight-seeing tour in the afternoon and a dinner at 7 o'clock with a talk by Dr. Lillian Smith of Detroit on "Maternity and Child Welfare." Dr. Mary Townsend DeMotte of Topeka, Kan., will discuss "Medical Practice in Western Kansas."

At the inaugural banquet, to begin at 7 o'clock in the evening, the president-elect, Dr. Nelle S. Noble of Des Moines, Ia., will be inducted into office. She succeeds Dr. Kate Karpeles of Washington. Dr. Margaret K. Smith, associate professor of pathology at Washington University Medical School will talk at the banquet on "St. Louis encephalitis."

After the convention, many of the women will remain for the nineteenth annual convention of the American Medical Association next week. Most of them hold fellowships in the association.

Dr. Lovejoy's report, to be made Monday night before the Medical Association, will dwell principally on the new maternity shelter established by the Hospital Service in Greenville County, S. C., a mountainous area inhabited by poor, isolated families.

During the past year, she said today to a Post-Dispatch reporter, the infant mortality rate at the shelter was one death for each 1342 births, as compared with the rate of one death for each 100 births in the region before the shelter was established. The shelter was an experimental undertaking, she said, to demonstrate how the mortality rate could be greatly reduced with meager funds.

Most of the women cared for, she said, were refused aid from regular hospitals because of lack of funds. Prenatal, postnatal and baby clinics were conducted for them, she continued, and they received the best of care during their confinements.

Since the World War, Dr. Lovejoy, an energetic, white-haired woman, has been engaged in establishing medical aid centers for refugees. She was in Southern Russia during the 1922-26 famine and in Greece during the savage Greco-Turkish war. She holds decorations from four governments, including the French Legion of Honor.

ROOSEVELT TO ASHEVILLE, N. C.
Says He Will Make Trip to Visit Secretary, McIntyre.

WASHINGTON, May 12 (AP).—President Roosevelt told his press conference he would go as soon as he could to Asheville, N. C., to visit his secretary, Marvin H. McIntyre, who has been ill for several months. He said he had not set a date for the trip.

He announced he would leave about 9 o'clock tonight for a cruise on the Potomac River and Chesapeake Bay, returning to the White House Sunday evening.

RUSSIA APPEARS TO FAVOR MOVE BACK TO GENEVA

Potemkin to Talk to League Council, Molotov to Address Supreme Soviet
About Same Time.

MOSCOW, May 12 (AP).—The possibility was seen today that Vyacheslav Molotov, Premier and Foreign Commissar, would speak to the Supreme Soviet on the foreign situation at about the same time that Vladimir P. Potemkin, first assistant Foreign Commissar, talks to the world at Geneva.

The Supreme Soviet will meet May 25, just three days after the opening of the League of Nations Council session which Soviet Russia yesterday requested be postponed to May 22 from its original meeting date, May 15.

Following yesterday's explanation of Soviet policy in Izvestia, Government newspaper, Soviet circles were silent today. Newspapers mentioned Potemkin's return but said nothing about the forthcoming league session.

In diplomatic quarters no further important pronouncements were expected until Potemkin reported to his Government on his talks with the foreign ministers of Turkey, Rumania and Poland.

Indications that Moscow itself may take the lead in efforts to form a new European security line-up through a back-to-Geneva movement aroused interest among foreign observers.

One of these indications was word the Soviet Government attached such importance to the next meeting of the League of Nations Council that it requested its postponement to enable Potemkin to arrive.

Others were contained in the editorial published in Izvestia, the Government's mouthpiece, expressing deep distrust of the security efforts centering in London. The editorial, it was said, urged a four-power alliance of Russia, Britain, France and Poland.

The editorial, observers said they were convinced, was written under the supervision of Joseph Stalin himself, rejected as one-sided the British counterproposal to the Russian scheme for widening the security front. The editorial urged a four-power alliance of Russia, Britain, France and Poland.

EX-ST. LOUISAN'S PAINTINGS SOLD FOR $795 AT AUCTION

$200 Paid for One Owned by Mrs. Oliguita Queeny Berrington, Who Lives in London.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
NEW YORK, May 12.—Twelve paintings from the collection of Mrs. Oliguita Queeny Berrington, former St. Louisan, sold for $795 in an auction yesterday at the Parke-Bernet Galleries.

The highest price was $200 for a painting by the French artist, Paul de la Roche, of Lord Stratford on His Way to Execution, which was sold to an agent. A private collector paid $150 for Jean Jacques Henner's "Girl in Scarlet."

The paintings were collected by Mrs. Berrington's father, the late John F. Queeny, chairman of the board of the Monsanto Chemical Co. Mrs. Berrington lives in London.

"Scholastic" Barred Again.
The weekly magazine Scholastic, recently ordered barred from the libraries of St. Louis public schools, also was barred by the School Board of Maplewood and Richmond Heights last night at the request of the Rev. Mary H. Ellis, vice crusader.

DICKMANN CO. LOSES DEMURRER MOTION

Court Overrules Plea in Suit for $8837 Profit in Straw Party Sale.

Circuit Judge Ernest F. Oakley today overruled the demurrer of the Joseph F. Dickmann Real Estate Co. to the suit of State Finance Commissioner R. W. Holt to recover for creditors of the defunct Kirkwood Trust Co. $8837 in profits and commissions made by the Dickmann company in a straw party sale to itself of real estate owned by the bank.

Thus the way was cleared for trial on its merits of the suit, in which Holt alleges the straw party transaction constituted "a flagrant and unconscionable fraud and deception." The Dickmann company profited by reselling the properties at higher prices and by collecting a commission of $937 for the sale to itself. The suit charges the company did not disclose it was the real buyer.

Judge Oakley's decision was counter to a recent ruling in a similar case by Circuit Judge Robert J. Kirkwood, who sustained a demurrer to Holt's petition for the recovery of $3450 in profits and commissions made by the Dickmann firm in a straw party transaction involving property of the closed Lowell Bank. In that case Holt's counsel filed an amended petition, alleging the company, as agent for the bank, failed to disclose to the bank and the court that it was the actual purchaser.

In overruling the demurrer today, Judge Oakley held Holt's petition was not an attack on a judicial sale, approved by St. Louis County, Circuit Court, but an action for an accounting of gains made by the Dickmann Co. as agent for the bank.

In the Lowell Bank case Judge Kirkwood held the transaction was a judicial sale, previously approved in Circuit Court, and that the rule of law relied on by Holt—that there was a breach of fiduciary relationship because the selling agent did not disclose it was the buyer also—did not apply.

Sailors Escorting King Get Extra Rum on Anniversary

George VI Gives Traditional Order to 'Splice the Main Brace'—Royal Liner Creeps Along in Fog.

ABOARD EMPRESS OF AUSTRALIA, May 12 (Canadian Press)—King George had orders issued to the conveying cruisers Glasgow and Southampton today to "splice the main brace" in celebration of the second anniversary of his coronation.

This meant that every man on the two warships escorting the King and Queen Elizabeth on their way to North America got an extra issue of rum, a traditional treat for men of the British navy on special occasions.

Promptly at noon the two cruisers appeared out of the mist through which the Empress has been proceeding slowly since yesterday, drew alongside Their Majesties' ship, and, as the King and Queen stood on the after deck with their suite, fired the royal salute of 21 guns in celebration of the anniversary.

The Empress poked cautiously through mists in the iceberg region today at speeds ranging from 18 to five knots.

The liner, forced by heavy fog to drift idly for 24 hours, got under way again at 5:15 a. m. but made little more than 18 knots in the first three hours.

The royal party awoke this morning to hear the ship's siren giving long, single blasts every two minutes—a sign the ship was under way again.

Since early yesterday the siren had sounded a double blast at frequent intervals, reminding those aboard that they were at a standstill about 350 miles off Cape Race, Newfoundland. During the halt the liner received radio reports of the exact whereabouts of icebergs in the region.

Despite the fog, the King and Queen were expected to land on time at Quebec Monday morning.

Two days extra had been allowed for delays because of fog. Ship's officers had waited throughout the night on the bridge for an improvement in visibility after hoping vainly all yesterday that the fog would lift enough to allow the liner and conveying cruisers to proceed.

An effort to continue was made at 8:45 p. m. but the searchlight could not penetrate the fog wall far enough ahead for safety and after 15 minutes the engines stopped again. The ship drifted until daylight.

Dawn brought no improvement, but later conditions were favorable enough for the Empress to grope along for a short distance. At 9 a. m. visibility was better and speed was increased.

Handshakes for the King and Queen Most Likely in Washington.

WASHINGTON, May 12 (AP).—The minute fraction of the population which actually will meet the King and Queen of England here next month is getting ready for good old American handshakes.

For weeks, these men and women have been swayed between the curtsy-or-don't, bow-or-faint schools of thought. The final consensus is that, being Americans, they will act as Americans usually do at White House or other formal functions.

Officials point out that President and Mrs. Roosevelt will be standing in line with the King and Queen when most of their big moments come, and Americans have been shaking their Presidents' hands for years. Some bow slightly; others don't. Not many men want to appear ludicrous by saying "how-do-you-do" to the President, then bowing low and backing off from the King and Queen, only to walk forward again for Mrs. Roosevelt's handshake.

The best guess here is that very few women, except the wives of foreign diplomats and English citizens, will curtsy at the White House.

At the British Embassy bows and curties will be a matter of choice. At a Danish reception last Sunday for the Danish Crown Prince and Princess, some officials' wives curtsied, but others did not.

The State Department steadfastly has refused to prescribe any royal etiquette for Americans. As a result, most officials plan to follow American customs.

The largest group to be presented will be those invited to the White House musicale after a state dinner for about 100 guests June 9. Others will be introduced at Union Station, at Niagara Falls, at New York, and possibly at Mount Vernon or Arlington Cemetery.

A few distinguished guests will be singled out for introductions to the royal couple at the British Embassy garden party for 1300 persons. The King and Queen will walk through the garden once or twice during the afternoon, but will have their tea with a small group on the veranda.

Anniversary of Coronation Observed in London.

LONDON, May 12 (AP).—A salute of guns was fired in Hyde Park yesterday to mark the second anniversary of the coronation of King George VI and Queen Elizabeth.

75TH ANNIVERSARY PLANS OF BADEN CATHOLIC CHURCH

Week's Ceremonies to Start Sunday; Father Wigger to Be Honored.

The seventy-fifth anniversary of the founding of Holy Cross Catholic Church of Baden and the fortieth anniversary of the ordination of its pastor, the Rev. Anton Wigger, will be celebrated next week, beginning with a solemn pontifical high mass conducted by Bishop Winkelmann at 10:15 o'clock Sunday morning.

Tuesday, children's day, there will be a children's solemn high mass at 8 a. m. followed at night by a pageant and entertainment in the parish hall. Wednesday morning at 8 o'clock there will be a solemn requiem high mass for deceased members of the parish. In the evening the Married Ladies' Sodality will serve a supper, followed by a carnival in the parish hall.

The celebration in honor of Father Wigger will be held Friday at 8 p. m., followed by a fish fry. The church is at 8115 Church road.

Assessor Coale Is Another of Class of 20 Received Into Local Organization.

United States Senator Bennett C. Clark was made a member of the St. Louis Elks' Lodge last night in a ceremony at the club, 3619 Lindell boulevard, attended by about 150 members and visitors.

Mayor Dickmann and Bruce A. Campbell of East St. Louis, Democratic National Committee men from Illinois, were the principal speakers. The class of 20 initiated was named for Senator Clark. Among them was Assessor Ralph W. Coale.

Gets 90 Days for Impersonation. George Wood, 20 years old, an unemployed mechanic, pleaded guilty yesterday of impersonating a deputy constable and was sentenced to 90 days in jail by Justice of the Peace O. F. Underwood at Maplewood. Wood, who resides at 1220A Hampton avenue, was arrested April 9 at a tourist camp at Watson and Laclede Station roads by Constable Tom Florence of Jefferson Township. He had identified himself as a deputy constable.

PRINCETON U. STUDENT BURNED

Two Overcome by Smoke in Fire in Their Room.

PRINCETON, N. J., May 12 (AP).—Two Princeton University sophomores were overcome by smoke and one suffered minor burns in a fire that destroyed their room yesterday in Holder Hall.

Ray L. Dudley Jr. of Houston, Tex., and James R. Brandt of Richmond, Va., both 19 years old, were taken to the university infirmary. Brandt suffered burns on the face and hands. The fire was thought to have been caused by a discarded cigarette.

SECURITIES INCREASE

15 BILLIONS IN 4 YEARS

SEC Research Section Issues First of Series of Studies.

WASHINGTON, May 12 (AP).—The Securities Commission reported yesterday that from 1933 through 1937 there was a net increase of 15 billion dollars in total outstanding securities in this country.

Cash offerings of about 40 billion dollars, including United States Government, municipal and foreign securities, were partly offset by retirements of about 25 billion dollars.

These figures were contained in the first of a series of studies submitted to the commission by its research section.

The average yearly net increase in all kinds of securities was about three billion dollars. This compared with an average of about $3,500,000,000 from 1913 through 1922 and about $4,500,000,000 from 1923 through 1930.

Net security issues for 1933 through 1937 consisted almost entirely of bonds, mainly because of the predominance of United States Government securities among new issues. While bonds increased by about 14 billion dollars, stocks showed a rise of only about one billion dollars.

In contrast, during the 1923-1930 period, nearly one-half of the net issues of domestic securities consisted of common and preferred stock.

More than 70 per cent of the total net proceeds of corporate issues offered between January, 1934, and June, 1938, was intended for repayment of indebtedness. Retirement of preferred stock absorbed another 5 per cent, leaving slightly less than 25 per cent for increases in plant, equipment and working capital.

WORLD'S LARGEST LAND PLANE GIVEN FEDERAL CERTIFICATE

41-Passenger Craft Passed by Board for Use on Airline After Year's Testing.

SANTA MONICA, Cal., May 12 (AP).—The world's largest land plane was given Federal approval for commercial airline use yesterday. After almost a year of testing at a cost of more than $200,000, the Douglas Aircraft Co.'s 42-passenger DC-4, weighing 65,000 pounds and costing $2,500,000, received from the Civil Aeronautics Authority an "approved type certificate" of airworthiness.

United Air Lines, one of five companies whose ideas on super-plane travel were incorporated in the craft, will test the DC-4 with Capt. Ben O. Howard, who put it through the final CAA tryouts, remaining at the controls.

Illinois Man Says in His First Speech in Chamber That Conscience Is Clear on State Job.

CHARGES 'UNFAIR' POLITICAL TACTICS'

Comments on Report Daughter Bought Utility Stock When He Headed Commerce Commission.

WASHINGTON, May 12 (AP).—Senator James M. Slattery (Dem.), Illinois, said yesterday in his first Senate speech that he would welcome a complete investigation by proper authority of his conduct as chairman of the Illinois Commerce Commission.

"My conscience is clear. I have nothing to conceal," he said as he referred to stories in Washington and Chicago newspapers about his conduct of the State office.

The stories referred to the reported purchase of utility stock by the Senator's daughter while Slattery was a member of the Commerce Commission.

Slattery resigned the chairmanship of the Illinois commission after he was appointed Senator by Gov. Horner to fill the vacancy caused by the death of James Hamilton Lewis.

"Attempt to Bismirch Name."

My natural inclination would be to ignore such false and malicious charges," Slattery said. "However, I feel that in justice to myself, and fairness to my colleagues in the Senate and to the Governor of Illinois who appointed me, I should state briefly my attitude toward this obvious attempt to bismirch my name by baseless innuendo and unfounded charges.

"If any investigation is made it will show clearly that no misconduct occurred while I held office as chairman of the Illinois Commerce Commission or at any time during my service as a public official. Such an investigation into these charges of impropriety also will disclose that they are motivated only by unfair political tactics.

"The charges stand refuted by the record, which shows that during my tenure as chairman of the commission I ordered rate reductions against the Commonwealth Edison Co. and its affiliates, the utility mentioned in the stories, which now result in a savings to the utility consumers of the metropolitan area of Chicago of more than $6,000,000 a year. The record also will show that while chairman of the commission I consistently ordered utility rate reductions affecting all types of service in an amount exceeding more than $10,000,000 a year.

Purpose of Statement.

"I regret deeply that the first time I should speak before this distinguished body should be in reference to a matter of this kind. My remarks are made solely to explain my position, not only to you with whom I serve, but to the Governor and the people of Illinois, who have every right to demand a complete examination of the records of their public servants.

"My purpose in making this statement at this time is to remove at once the unpleasant stigma which has been so unjustly attached to my name."

Permit for Movie for Negroes.

A permit for the construction of an $80,000 motion picture theater for Negroes at 4106 Finney avenue was issued yesterday by the City Building Department to the Comet Theater, Inc. The new structure will seat about 700 persons. Vincel Stamm, contractor, said the firm was headed by Thomas James, operator of two other Negro theaters. The building will be of reinforced concrete and brick.

CIO MINERS BARRED BY BELLEVILLE MAYOR

Excluded From Courthouse, They Hold Meeting in a Hotel.

Members of the CIO United Mine Workers of America, meeting last night in Belleville, stronghold of the rival Progressive Miners' Union, were denied access to the St. Clair County Courthouse at the instance of Mayor George Remanier. They had obtained permission earlier in the day from Sheriff D. A. Prindable to use the Circuit Court room for their meeting, the first to be held in Belleville in seven years.

About 200 miners and other CIO unionists gathered outside the building shortly before the scheduled meeting time, 8 o'clock, when Chief Deputy Sheriff John D. Prindable, the Sheriff's son, and Belleville Police Sgt. Fred G. Saeger informed the leaders that Remanier would not permit use of the courthouse because "he wants no trouble in Belleville."

Sheriff Prindable, the legal custodian of the building, was in St. Louis attending a police officers' meeting when the Mayor's conflicting order was enforced.

Barred from the courthouse, the miners held an orderly two-hour meeting in a dining room of the Belleville Hotel, addressed by Ray Edmundson of Springfield, State president of the union, who said he expected an early settlement of the contract controversy which has kept 25,000 Illinois members of the union idle for a week. He had been informed, he said, that the Illinois Coal Operators' Association was ready to agree to a union shop for the United Mine Workers.

Remanier said today he denied the miners permission to meet in the City Hall and later prevented the courthouse meeting on the ground that there were no United Mine Workers or other CIO members in Belleville and the gathering would cause "trouble."

He expressed the opinion that the meeting would not have been peaceful had it been held in the courthouse. He did not learn until evening that permission had been obtained to use the county building and then was unable to reach Sheriff Prindable, he declared.

The meeting was attended by members of the only UMW local in St. Clair County, the Freeburg local to which about 80 miners belong. Other miners came from Perry and Franklin counties and other sections to the south.

The purpose of the gathering, officers said, was to urge Progressive Miners to join in the stoppage of work, but apparently no member of the rival union was present. Edmundson said he thought work would be resumed Monday and urged Progressives to return to membership in the United Mine Workers' Union.

ROOSEVELT DIRECTS NAVY ACCEPT ARGENTINE BEEF BID

Says Foreign Canned Product Was Found Cheaper and Better Than

WASHINGTON, May 12 (AP).—President Roosevelt has directed the navy to accept a bid on 48,000 pounds of Argentine canned corned beef for feeding navy personnel in place of a United States firm's bid because, he said today, the foreign product was found to be cheaper and superior in quality.

Discussing at a press conference an amendment by Senator O'Mahoney (Dem., Wyoming), to the navy appropriation bill designed to prevent purchase of the foreign beef, the President said the Argentine product was offered at 15 cents a pound, including a 6-cent-a-pound duty, as against the American bid of 23 cents a pound.

He added the foreign corned beef was far superior and he felt because of this factor and also the cost angle that the buy American policy was not being violated.

INQUIRY INTO FATAL INJURY OF KANSAS CITY HORSE TRADER

Report Received That Man Found Hurt Along Railroad

KANSAS CITY, Mo., May 12 (AP).—George H. Anderson, 48-year-old horse and mule trader, died in a hospital here last night from a skull fracture. He was taken to the hospital Wednesday after he had been found unconscious on the Kansas City Southern right-of-way near Amoret, Mo., 62 miles south of Kansas City. He never regained consciousness.

Special officers of the railroad were investigating a report Anderson had left his farm near here Tuesday with about $400 to go to Kentucky to buy stock. No money was found in his pockets.

A transient taken off a freight train at Pittsburg, Kan., Wednesday told a special agent there he had seen a man fall off the train and he understood the victim was known as "Shotgun." Anderson was known to his neighbors as "Shotgun."

ST. LOUIS POST-DISPATCH

Report Received That Man Found Hurt Along Railroad

KANSAS CITY, Mo., May 12 (AP).—George H. Anderson, 48-year-old horse and mule trader, died in a hospital here last night from a skull fracture. He was taken to the hospital Wednesday after he had been found unconscious on the Kansas City Southern right-of-way near Amoret, Mo., 62 miles south of Kansas City. He never regained consciousness.

Special officers of the railroad were investigating a report Anderson had left his farm near here Tuesday with about $400 to go to Kentucky to buy stock. No money was found in his pockets.

A transient taken off a freight train at Pittsburg, Kan., Wednesday told a special agent there he had seen a man fall off the train and he understood the victim was known as "Shotgun." Anderson was known to his neighbors as "Shotgun."

100,000 CITY FUND BOUGHT FOR WPA JOBS

Introduced in Board of Aldermen for Paying St. Louis' Share.

A bill to appropriate $100,000 as the city's share of the cost of additional WPA improvements was introduced in the Board of Aldermen today by Alderman Joseph B. Schweppe. He said the city's present fund for this purpose, about $100,000, would be exhausted in a week.

Many of the 25,000 WPA workers in the city will have to be laid off in the city does not provide more money, Schweppe said. The Government now is requiring the city to pay 20 per cent of costs, he added. Formerly the city paid 0 per cent.

Electrical utilities would be charged 5 per cent of their gross receipts as a license tax, rather than the occupational tax provided for in an existing ordinance, under a bill submitted by Alderman Bernard J. Fitzsimmons. He said the change was requested by the city law department. The Union Electric Co. of Missouri has been paying the tax but the city has a suit pending to collect it from the Laclede Power & Light Co.

The Aldermen passed unanimously the annual tax rate bill, fixing the aggregate 1939 rate at $2.77 on the $100 valuation, the same as last year.

A public hearing by the Legislation Committee was announced for next Tuesday at 10:30 a. m. on a bill to license operators of moving vans and require them to carry liability insurance covering personal injuries.

Floor Leader Emmett Golden announced that the board planned to adjourn from June 9 to about Sept. 29 for its annual vacation.

18-OUNCE BABY IN IRON LUNG

Prematurely Born Infant Conceded Good Chance to Live.

LOS ANGELES, May 12 (AP).—Phyllis Theresa Melchionne, weighing only 18 ounces, was born today and, after being bundled in cotton inside an iron lung, was conceded good chance to live.

"It's against all medical rules and regulations," Dr. Jurko Schneider said of her birth and the possibility of survival. Yet she appears normal except in size, and has a good pulse. The baby was born more than three months prematurely, to Mrs. Nancy Melchionne, 22 years old, already the mother of two sons. The father, Mario, is a laundry worker.

NEW REORGANIZATION PLAN WINS IN SENATE

Motion to Disapprove Roosevelt's Second Proposal Voted Down.

WASHINGTON, May 12 (AP).—The Senate approved President Roosevelt's second Government reorganization plan today.

The plan regroups numerous Government agencies and abolishes the Bituminous Coal Commission, placing its functions under the Interior Department. The program will go into effect at the end of 60 days.

To invalidate a plan, both chambers must disapprove. Senate approval was given on a voice vote when the chamber rejected a resolution to disapprove the plan. The resolution was offered by Chairman Byrnes (Dem.), South Carolina, of the Senate Reorganization Committee in an effort to obtain prompt approval of the plan.

Byrnes told reporters he would offer a resolution later to make the plan effective June 1, along with Roosevelt's first reorganization program. The first plan has been approved by the House, but under existing law cannot go into effect until June 24.

Named for River Commission. WASHINGTON, May 12 (AP).—Brigadier-General Max C. Tyler, Army Engineer Corps, was nominated by President Roosevelt yesterday to be a member and president of the Mississippi River Commission.

TOOTHPASTE MAN ASSAILS CLAIMS IN ADVERTISING

Manufacturer Assails Spending of Large Sums by Rival Companies Constitutes Monopoly.

SAYS TESTIMONIALS MEAN HIGHER PRICE

He Tells Committee Some Firms Lay 'More Emphasis on Sex Appeal Than Quality.'

WASHINGTON, May 12 (AP).—Jerome W. Ephraim, a New York tooth paste manufacturer, complained to the Federal Monopoly Committee yesterday that expenditure of large sums for advertising by manufacturers of popular brands constituted a monopoly.

Senator O'Mahoney of Wyoming, who is directing the current study of consumer problems, disagreed. "If Shirley Temple used your tooth paste would you refrain from advertising that fact?" he asked the witness.

"Oh, no," rejoined Ephraim. "There would be nothing immoral about advertising that Shirley Temple used my tooth paste—if people didn't mind paying 10 cents more a tube."

"They wouldn't," ejaculated O'Mahoney. "People are like that and there's no use trying to do anything about it."

"Like distributors of tooth paste," he continued, "we incumbents try to create a demand for our services and the successful candidate is the one who creates the most demand. That is largely a matter of advertising."

The exchange followed a complaint by Ephraim that although his product conformed to American Dental Association Standards he was unable to reach consumers because of a "stone wall" of advertising which, he said, "laid more emphasis upon sex appeal than quality."

Persia Campbell of New York, executive secretary of the Consumers' National Federation, and Dr. Ruth W. Ayres, an economist on Mayor LaGuardia's Milk Committee, discussed housewives' purchasing problems.

Miss Campbell, who said her organization represents 30 consumer groups, charged that consumers were being misled by "phony" advertisements and certifications, that at least one manufacturer was promoting sales among school children by systematic distribution of advertising material among teachers and that large distributing companies were organizing "consumer" groups to increase sales of their own products.

Dr. Ayres complained that consumers are "confused and deceived" by the variety of containers used for common household commodities. A conscientious housewife would need a whole day, she asserted, to choose intelligently one can of tomato juice.

COLUMNISTS AROUSE SENATOR REYNOLDS

Carolinian Says Pair 'Left-handedly' Label Him 'an Agent of Germany.'

WASHINGTON, May 12 (AP).—Senator Reynolds (Dem.), North Carolina, said in a four-hour Senate speech yesterday that two newspaper columnists were "trying to destroy me in the eyes of the American people."

He declared that Robert Allen and Drew Pearson, authors of the syndicated "Washington Merry-Go-Round" were "underhandedly, left-handedly" labeling him "an agent of Germany."

"Because I point out to the American people that England has failed to grant Ireland its absolute independence, must I be labeled an agent of Germany?" Reynolds shouted.

The "knockout" blow, Reynolds said, was an "insinuation" that the Vindicators, a society organized by the North Carolina Senator, was "financed by Hitler's money."

He quoted an excerpt as follows: "Band members are urged to subscribe to and distribute copies of the Vindicator. Fascist weekly recently launched by Senator Reynolds, with mysterious financial backing."

"What else could they desire to infer and leave in the minds of the American people than that I sold out my Government to the Germans, when I was in Berlin, when they said I was wined and dined and flattered; and not a word of it is true, so help me God," Reynolds asserted. "I demand that they prove their allegations and I am throwing it right back in their laps."

Quotes Secretary Hull. Reynolds has inserted in the Record a supporting letter by Secretary Hull. The letter, written by Hull, April 19, called some statements made in a column April 14 by Pearson and Allen "inaccurate" and "misleading."

The Senator had written Hull asking about reports printed by the columnists and that English interests had "double crossed" the United States by making loans which aided in German rearmament.

Reynolds quoted Hull as having told him in a telephone conversation Wednesday that the two columnists "told the truth only one-fourth of the time and one-fourth of the truth two-thirds of the time."

He said Hull gave him permission to make public the April 19 letter. After Reynolds finished, Senator

King (Dem.), Utah, took the floor to denounce the Nazi movement, as "the foe of religion" and a "baneful and dangerous philosophy aimed at destruction of democratic forms of government."

Assessing that critics of the treaty of Versailles might modify their attacks in the light of Germany's course under Hitler, King declared that "we can infer from the ruthless brutalities of Hitler the kind of treaty that would have been made if Germany had won the war."

R. A. PANTAGES SEEKS DIVORCE

Theater Man Charges Infidelity; Wife Files Counter Suit.

LOS ANGELES, May 12 (AP).—Rodney Alexander Pantages, theater man and son of the late Alexander Pantages, filed suit for divorce here yesterday against Mrs. Beatrice Veryl Pantages, charging her with indiscretions with a Palm Springs bartender.

His complaint declares his wife's habitual intemperance and associations with other men rendered her unfit to care for their two children.

Later Mrs. Pantages filed a counter suit, charging her husband beat her and knocked her down on two occasions.

DR. H. L. NIETERT LEFT ESTATE OF $140,000

Nine Heirs to Divide It After Specific Bequests of $12,500 Are Paid.

The will of Dr. Herman L. Nietert, filed today, disposes of an estate estimated at $140,000. It makes specific bequests totaling $12,500, including $10,000 to the Evangelical Deaconess Society, and divides the remainder of the estate among nine relatives.

Dr. Nietert, widely known surgeon and former superintendent of City Hospital, died Monday.

He directed that the $10,000 bequest was to be used to construct a home for the sisterhood which operates Deaconess Hospital.

Other bequests were of $1000 each to Lydia Henkel, his housekeeper, and Henry Truschn, his chauffeur, and $500 to Josephine Forst, his maid.

His surgical instruments were left to Dr. John W. Hotz.

The nine relatives who will share equally in the residue are: Charles Nietert of Edwardsville, his brother; Fred, Edward and Carl Engelke Jr., nephews; Mrs. Emma Kuehn and Mrs. Louise Pape, nieces; Mrs. Anna Walker, Mrs. Emma Jostes and Mrs. Clara De Haan, sisters of his deceased wife. His wife, Spokesman Says In tional Settlement M Taken Over If Like dent Occurs There.

SHANGHAI, May 12 (AP)

Japanese naval forces occupied International settlement of Amoy today and a Japanese spokesman asserted that "action" might "be necessary" respecting the international at Shanghai.

Kulansu is an island in the border of Amoy, Fukien Province, 600 miles southwest of Shanghai, which the Japanese occupied several months ago.

The international settlement and a half-square miles of land with a normal foreign population of 250, has been administered by a council whose members included one American. The six other Americans on the Kulansu has a total population about 65,000, a 50 per cent since the Japanese occupied Amoy city.

Operation Without War. Dornel, the Japanese navy, said the occupation followed fatal shooting of Hung Chinese president of the Chamber of Commerce, the Japanese Naval Command was in the province. He asserted this endangered the manner, entitling them to the "right of self defense."

One British destroyer was in harbor. The nearest American naval vessel was a gunboat Swatow, farther down the coast in Shanghai. A Japanese spokesman, in reply to a question, said similar action might be taken against the International Settlement and the French concession.

"If a case like that at Kulansu occurs," he said, "for several months ago the Japanese Government bodies, including the Japanese navy, have failed to take active steps to capture the assailants."

On May 3 the Tokyo Government presented to the United States Great Britain demands increased Japanese participation in the Shanghai municipal governing body of the settlement, to gain "throughout terrorism." The council has five British, two American Japanese members, with an American chairman.

Authorities of the International Settlement and French concession issued yesterday a joint proclamation threatening severe punishment and expulsion for persons in "political activities."

THREAT OF SIMILAR ACTION AT SHANGHAI

Spokesman Says International Settlement May Be Taken Over If Like Incident Occurs There.

SHANGHAI, May 12 (AP).—Japanese naval forces occupied the international settlement of Kiangsu at Amoy today and a Japanese spokesman asserted that "similar action" might be necessary regarding the international areas at Shanghai.

Kiangsu is an island in the harbor of Amoy, Fukien Province port 60 miles southwest of Shanghai which the Japanese occupied several months ago.

The international settlement, one and a half square miles in area and with a normal foreign population of 250, has been administered by a council whose membership included one American. There are 100,000 Chinese in the island. Kiangsu has a total population of about 65,000, a 50 per cent increase since the Japanese occupation of Amoy city.

Occupation Without Warning.

Domestic Japanese news agency said the occupation followed the fatal shooting of Hung Li-Hui, Chinese president of the Amoy Chamber of Commerce, while the Japanese Naval Commander was in the vicinity. Japanese asserted this endangered the commander, entitling them to exercise the "right of self defense." Without notifying the settlement's council or any foreign authorities, Japanese naval forces moved into the settlement and the council had failed to take active steps to capture the assailants.

One British destroyer was in the harbor. The nearest American naval vessel was a gunboat at Swatow, farther down the coast. In Shanghai a Japanese naval spokesman, in reply to a question said similar action might be taken against the International Settlement and the French concession there "if a case like that at Kiangsu occurs." For several months Japanese authorities here have contended that authorities of the settlement and French concession which has resulted in the assassination of more than 40 Chinese connected with Japanese-dominated Government bodies.

Previous Demands to Powers.

On May 3 the Tokyo Government presented to the United States and Great Britain demands for increased Japanese participation in the Shanghai municipal council, governing body of the settlement here, to gain "thorough control of terrorism." The council now has five British, two American, two Japanese members, with an American chairman.

Authorities of the International Settlement and French concession issued yesterday a joint proclamation threatening severe punishment and expulsion for persons engaging in "political activities."

The Japanese naval spokesman's statement today was the first open threat of occupation of Shanghai's foreign areas. These sections are strongly defended by United States marines, British and French troops, and warships of all three nations and Italy.

Sir Victor Sassoon, who owns large properties in Shanghai, predicted that 30,000 Jewish refugees from Europe would be accepted in Shanghai before the end of the year. This month 3000 are scheduled to arrive in addition to the 8000 already being cared for by relief authorities.

Japanese Bomb Chungking Again.

Dispatches from Chungking tonight said 27 Japanese planes raided that provincial capital of China, target of devastating raids last week. No immediate estimate of casualties was available. Chinese planes were said to have engaged in a spectacular fight with the invaders.

From 3500 to 5000 casualties were inflicted in Japanese raids on Chungking May 3 and 4.

A Japanese communique reported today 10,000 Chinese had been killed in a major battle in progress since May 1 in Hupeh Province, 200 miles northwest of Hankow. The communique said the remainder of the Chinese forces on that front, totaling 45,000 men, were trapped between two Japanese columns. One Japanese force is driving north along the Han River and the other along the Peking-Hankow railway in a pincer movement.

WASHINGTON LETTER

By CHARLES G. ROSS

Correspondents Write Their Views on Technological Unemployment—A Crackpot Bill in the Missouri House—Findings of the National Resources Committee.

WASHINGTON, May 12. THERE appeared recently in this column an article on technological unemployment—the displacement of men by machinery—suggested by Mr. Roosevelt's statement in his message of last month asking for relief funds for the coming fiscal year. Attention was called to his statement—and the disturbing implications of the statement—that a prime factor in the unemployment picture is "the increasing output of the individual worker." This increasing output, it was remarked, was obviously the result of the increasing use of machinery. The article said that the problem created by the machine was daily growing more acute and that no solution was in sight.

This article has produced a stream of letters. If they are any guide, there is a deeper and more intelligent public interest in technological unemployment than in any other topic which has been touched upon in this column. Though the subject, naturally, gains spot-news importance only on rare occasions, it is clear that the question of how to use machinery to the best social advantage is very much in the public mind.

Two or three of the correspondents assert that they have the complete answer and entreat the cooperation of the writer in getting their views before the public. In the main, however, the letters show full realization of the enormous difficulties in the way of a solution.

In calling attention to the crackpot bill which has entered into discussion, a thoughtful Missouri correspondent cites a bill which has been introduced in the Lower House of the Legislature of that state. This measure would create a board to investigate the expense of operation of any enterprise in which labor-saving device or apparatus is now in use . . . and which . . . decreases the cost of manufacture and decreases the necessary number of employees. Such savings by the manufacturer would be taxed at from 25 to 50 per cent.

A law of that sort, of course, would return us to the stone age of industrial production. As the correspondent observes, "even a stone ax and a plow made out of forked sticks are highly labor-saving devices, and an automobile factory saves an incalculable amount of labor as compared with 'devices or apparatus' of the cave-men." He is afraid that such straw as this bill "show which way the hot air blows."

Another correspondent, a high executive of one of the great manufacturing companies of the country, writes as follows:

"Free enterprise when unhampered has been able to utilize so much of the leisure time as was socially desirable. Thus, at the end of the period 1900 to 1929, in spite of the greatest advance in time-saving inventions, there was no unemployment problem. We have unemployment today because free enterprise is hampered. This is the sole cause of unemployment."

SENATOR LEE SAYS PEOPLE WANT ROOSEVELT AGAIN

Oklahoma Declares President Would Get Advance of Votes Greater Than Last.

WASHINGTON, May 12 (AP).—Senator Lee (Dem.), Oklahoma, said last night "the people of the United States want Franklin D. Roosevelt for a third term."

Speaking at the ninth annual convention of the Young Communist League, Browder said that if Mr. Roosevelt did not run, the party would support the Democratic candidate if he is "liberal."

MARTIN DIES WON'T SUBMIT ADVANCE COPY OF ADDRESS

Refuses to Talk in Chicago; Says Order Violates Freedom of Speech.

CHICAGO, May 12 (AP).—John V. Clinan, president of the Non-Sectarian League for Americanism, said Representative Martin Dies (Dem.), Texas, had decided not to address a Flag Day celebration in Soldier Field June 11 because he had been requested to submit an advance copy of his speech.

Dies, chairman of the House Committee on Un-American Activities, telegraphed that the request had been made by the Chicago Park District, which has jurisdiction over Soldier Field.

"Such a condition violates freedom of speech, which I hold to be the fundamental right of every American citizen," Dies said.

yond the irreducible minimum of unemployed workers in transition."

The sincerity of this correspondent is beyond question, but it seems to me that the facts are against him. Even in the halcyon Coolidge days there was a considerable unemployment problem due to the increased productivity per worker. We didn't notice the problem then because of the general prosperity of the country. . . .

A study made by this writer in 1932 cited unemployment estimates running as high as 2,000,000 for the very height of our industrial expansion. Two years ago the Subcommittee on Technology of the National Resources Committee, in its careful report on "Technological Trends," wrote that owing to increased productivity and the growth of the labor supply from 1920 to 1929, there was a "substantial volume of unemployment" during that entire period. The committee calculated that unemployment in 1937 could be reduced to the 1929 level only by a 20 per cent higher production of goods and services in 1937 than in 1929. This percentage was based on the productivity level of 1935; an increase in that level would mean a corresponding increase in the production required to get us back to the pre-depression unemployment level.

The correspondent who laments the restrictions on free enterprise speaks rather lightly of "workers in transition." Presumably he means workers in transition from one job to another as a result of displacement by "time-saving devices." The transition is likely to be a long process and to land the worker in a job wholly unrelated to his old work, and at lower pay. The report above cited—which is commended to all who may be interested in the subject—points out that the notable expansion in employment between 1929 and 1939 was due almost wholly to the rapid growth of the service industries.

The subject is tempting, but there is space for only one more point from the letters. This is made by a writer who is a laborer in a company. In speaking of the powerful influences which are tending to speed up the mechanization of industry, with resultant loss of jobs, he names as one of them "taxes based on the laborer's income." "If," he says, "you figure workers' compensation insurance, which may easily run $3 or $4 per $100 of payroll in manufacturing operations, and add thereto social security taxes and unemployment taxes which are also based on percentages of payroll, you will find that you are paying not only a lot higher labor rate than a few years ago, but that you have 8 or 10 per cent taxes and insurance as a surcharge on these hourly labor rates."

The problem, of course, of how to live with the machine and not let it master us is not confined to the United States. It is a problem which will be with the world for a long time to come. The need for continuing study by such well-equipped agencies as the National Resources Committee is evident.

HARVARD MAN'S SUGGESTION ON JUDICIAL APPOINTMENTS

Prof. Powell Says President by Ex-Cellence of Choice, Can Free Self of Senatorial Pressure.

BOSTON, May 12 (AP).—Thomas Reed Powell, Langdell professor of law at Harvard University, suggested today that the President could free himself from the "shackles of senatorial courtesy" in judicial appointments by making appointments of undoubted excellence.

Such appointments, he said in address as the thirteenth annual Bacon lecturer at Boston University, would serve either to make individual Senators claim credit for the nominations or discourage them from instituting opposition.

He condemned such senatorial pressure and said it was impossible to say how many times a President had yielded to such persuasion.

"Every informed person knows that has happened more frequently than is to be desired," Powell said. "The case is no better if the President takes the lead in treating a judgeship as patronage for a Senator or as patronage for a faction more disposed toward the President and his policies than is the Senator."

ECONOMIC ISSUES UP IN PRELIMINARY MEDICAL SESSIONS

Dr. Thomas Magath Discusses State Operation of Laboratories Before Pathologists.

HEADS OF WOMEN'S ASSOCIATION MEET

800 Visiting Physicians in City, Vanguard of 10,000 Coming for Next Week's Convention.

Economic considerations, a leading topic for the American Medical Association session here next week, came up at the outset as more than 800 physicians—the vanguard of an anticipated 10,000—gathered today in preliminary meetings of four specialized groups.

Medical economics, with particular reference to diagnostic laboratories operated by states, hospitals and laymen or inadequately qualified physicians was the theme of the presidential address delivered by Dr. Thomas Magath of Rochester, Minn., in opening the three-day meeting of the American Society of Clinical Pathologists at the Hotel Jefferson.

Meeting today and tomorrow at Hotel Jefferson are the American Therapeutic Society, American Heart Association and Association for the Study of Internal Secretions. Directors of the American Medical Women's Association are meeting at the Jefferson in advance of the opening tonight of its twenty-fourth annual convention.

Three Main Problems.

Dr. Magath, discussing "three main problems of an economic nature" primarily confronting his field, dealt first, as least important, with expansion of state health laboratories. In his own state, he remarked, it had reached a vicious circle; the State Board of Health did so much of the laboratory work that no private pathologist could get a foothold, and since none was available, the State had to keep it up.

But, said Dr. Magath, in limiting the work of state laboratories, private laboratories would reduce the problem of providing services as widely available, as inexpensive, as efficient and as responsible.

The multiplication of hospital laboratories, Dr. Magath declared, had led to cases where "second-rate and third-rate work is sometimes charged for at first-rate prices." He pointed out that while the American Medical Association approves 616 hospitals, there are only about 700 trained pathologists to go around—and only 360 of the 467 departments of pathology are directed by graduates in medicine.

He commended provisions of a pending agreement that such laboratories be headed by a qualified pathologist, preferably certified by the American Board of Pathology, or, where that is impossible, that they arrange for specialized consultation service and place the department under a member of the medical staff of particular interest or training in that field.

Untrained Operators.

Most acute of the three problems, Dr. Magath said, was the operation of clinical laboratories by persons without medical training. He dealt at length with a quarrel between the pathologists and a group in the American Chemical Society, arising in Pennsylvania, where the State Board held that operation of such a laboratory is practice of medicine and requires a medical license.

The chemical society, in attacking that ruling, Dr. Magath said, cited an agreement adopted in 1924 by the American Medical Association House of Delegates and a joint committee of the Medical Association, the Chemical Society and the American Association of Pathologists and Bacteriologists. He said that since then the medical association had shown marked disagreement with this—as he called it—"Munich pact."

"One spearhead of socialized medicine is already firmly lodged in the laboratory," commented Dr. Frederick H. Lamb of Davenport, Iowa. "It is no secret that another is tilted at the practice of medicine."

EARL OF PLYMOUTH RESIGNS AS BRITISH UNDER SECRETARY

Former Non-Intervention Chairman Quits Parliamentary Foreign Affairs Post Because of Health.

LONDON, May 12 (AP).—The Earl of Plymouth has resigned as Parliamentary Under-Secretary for Foreign Affairs for reasons of health. It was announced today.

Lord Plymouth was chairman of the new defunct International Committee for Non-Intervention in Spain.

He was Parliamentary Under-Secretary successively for Dominion Affairs, transport and the Colonial office before taking the post in the Foreign Ministry in 1936. He was a member of Parliament from 1913 to 1919 and from January, 1922, to March, 1923.

Missouri Named Rear-Admiral.

WASHINGTON, May 12 (AP).—Secretary of the Navy Swanson approved yesterday the promotion of Capt. John Anderson Schofield to Rear Admiral in the naval reserve.

AMERICAN SHARES BOUNTY CHARLES II GAVE FOR ESCAPE

Gets Check for $60 Because Ancestors Helped Hide King From Cromwell.

MEDFORD, Mass., May 12 (AP).—Thomas Walker, 29 years old, of Andover, Tufts Medical School sophomore, is $60 richer today because his ancestors helped King Charles II escape from Oliver Cromwell nearly three centuries ago.

The English Government sent Walker a check for $12 yesterday after Walker successfully proved his right to the annual bounty which has been paid his family throughout the years. He is a descendant of the Penderels and the Yates families who hid the King in the royal oak at Boscombe after Cromwell put a price on his head.

After the restoration Charles settled a 100-pound annual pension on the families to be paid to their heirs "forever." The grant has dwindled since, and only recently Walker said today, some members of Parliament objected to sending more funds to non-subjects. Walker's father received the money until his death last month.

"Funny to think of such a thing happening just because Oliver Cromwell gave Charles the works," Walker commented as he looked at the check.

Senator Proposes 20 Pct. Cuts

WASHINGTON, May 12 (AP).—Senator King (Dem.), Utah, proposed legislation today to cut 20 per cent from all appropriations for the year beginning July 1. King said his resolution would reduce those appropriations that already have been enacted, but would not apply to allotments for interest.

5-JUDGE COURT FAVORED IN RAIL BANKRUPTCIES

Senate Group Recommends Body to Handle Receiverships in Conjunction With I C C.

WASHINGTON, May 12 (AP).—The Senate Interstate Commerce Committee recommended to the Senate today creation of a five-judge court to handle railroad bankruptcies and receiverships in conjunction with the Interstate Commerce Commission.

The committee approved a proposal by Chairman Wheeler (Dem.), Montana, and Senator Truman (Dem.), Missouri, which would revise reorganization procedure generally and which would be designed to speed up the process.

Before acting on the measure, the committee liberalized the basis on which the Interstate Commerce Commission would be required to determine the maximum capitalization of a reorganized road.

As introduced, capitalization would have been based primarily on anticipated future earnings, which ordinarily could not exceed the average for the six years prior to reorganization. The committee changed this period to 12 years.

Appeal by Willard

Earlier the committee heard an appeal by Daniel Willard, 78-year-old president of the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad, for passage of legislation which would permit financially distressed roads to adjust and postpone their debts through voluntary agreement with creditors.

"I believe we can work it out," Willard said, referring to a debt adjustment plan which he said was approved by 85 per cent of the B. & O. creditors.

If the B. & O. could avoid reorganization, he said, the corporation could save not only considerable expense but would avoid what "seems to me to be a real disgrace, a personal disgrace, if I let the property get in that condition."

"The railroads are going to come back again," Willard asserted. "They have always come back and have been better than ever."

The Vice of the Deficits

AFTER watching the way in which the Senate added some $28,000,000 to the agricultural subsidy, the observer may ask himself where this sort of thing is going to stop, who is going to stop it and how he is going to stop it.

In one day's work, without a roll call, the Senate, with the assistance and consent of all the orators who have denounced spending, have denounced deficits, namely Mr. Taft and Mr. Vandenberg and Mr. Byrd, added another 10 per cent to next year's anticipated deficit.

We learn from press interviews that the Secretary of the Treasury is "greatly distracted," that the President, who thinks that his own deficit is necessary, thinks that somewhat larger deficit is somewhat too large. The great rhetorical experts of economy, retrenchment, the balanced budget, sound finance and the eternal verities, all contributed anonymously but effectively toward the result. The great prophets of national bankruptcy, inflation and whatnot, who have been filling the country with their forebodings, took the view that bankruptcy or no bankruptcy, inflation or no inflation, they had to vote the enlarged subsidy.

Discussing this episode, Arthur Krock of the New York Times made the point that the absence of public pressure for economy does not mean that the country is not in a state of emergency, but that only a small percentage of the people pay direct Federal taxes.

This is, of course, true. But what makes public pressure for economy totally ineffective is not only that the existing taxes are for the most part invisible and indirect, but that about a third of all the expenditures are not covered by taxes at all. Under these conditions there is no real resistance, no resistance that is not mere rhetoric, to the continuation and expansion of the deficit.

For the politicians in Washington, in both parties and in all factions, and the politicians in the states and in the cities, the farm groups and the urban groups alike, are operating under a delusion where the deficit seems to hurt nobody. The deficit is met by the easiest kind of borrowing.

These deficits do not soak the rich. On the contrary, they provide an ever-expanding refuge for the fortunes of the rich. So as things go now, the politicians vote for larger deficits and the deficits are eagerly financed by the people who have money. Everyone declares it is an abstract, and everyone takes advantage of it in the concrete.

Upon this system the prophets of disaster, men like Mr. Byrd and Mr. Taft and Mr. Vandenberg, are quite unable to make any impression. Not only do they consent to it in cases when it is politically dangerous not to consent, but what is more important, their forebodings are not taken seriously.

They are not taken seriously because the predicted disaster is not close enough to seem real. It cannot seem real even to themselves or they would have fought like embattled patriots against the abandonment of the very idea of economy.

The fact of the matter is that the real evil of the system of deficit financing is not that it is about to produce bankruptcy, inflation and financial collapse. If it were about to produce such a spectacular disaster, the American people would be quite capable of rising up to deal with it.

The real evil of the deficit spending is that it is slowly and subtly demoralizing to the whole nation, to the recipients and to the lenders and to the politicians, that it integrates the fundamental civic virtues. And, therefore, if it continues, the financial crisis which will come, not for some years, but eventually, will find our political system so demoralized that no real cure will no longer be possible.

It is difficult for a democracy to look that far ahead, and to be resolute and self-sacrificing in order to stop an evil which is so subtle, so postponed, so pleasantly coloring. Yet it is precisely because the financial position is not critical, but is merely degenerating and disintegrating, because there is no emergency but only a gradual destruction of the habits of virtue, that no easy and practical remedy is to be found.

TEST CHILDREN'S EARS EARLY, EXPERT URGES

Clinic Examiner Tells Session Poor Hearing Causes Deviating Personalities.

Poor hearing in children must be discovered early in order to forestall the development of deviating personalities, Warren H. Gardner, examiner for the hard of hearing at the Indiana University Speech and Hearing Clinic, said today at the conference of the American Society for the Hard of Hearing at the Coronado Hotel.

"In the absence of adequate testing equipment in offices of physicians, the main goal is to remove causes of hearing losses rather than to obtain confirmation," he declared.

"A final tendency is to give tests to the youngest children in school. Histories of numerous children found with severe hearing losses reveal beginnings of the trouble early in school life and even in pre-school days."

Inferior Audiometers. He said few of the audiometers used in testing were found to be up to manufacturer's standards, and that those conducting tests are often improperly trained. The best results, he said, are obtained when audiometer counselors are employed to make tests throughout a state.

Miss Laura Stovel of Washington, editor of the "Hearing News," declared: "We are mobilizing to fight deafness for there is real glory in warfare of this kind, where human lives are saved, not destroyed." She said the society has 117 chapters, including two in Hawaii, and has 500 individual members who do not belong to local societies.

Eight pupils of Gallaudet School, ranging from 6 to 9 years old, gave a rhythm demonstration at last night's meeting. Their teacher, Miss Verne J. Smith, played various rhythms on the piano and the children skipped, ran or danced—doing whatever was suggested by the music. They felt the rhythm by holding their fingers on the piano. Then, reading lips, they asked questions of each other.

Causes Mental Conflict. Speaking yesterday on human adjustment, Lowell C. Rich, executive director of the Cleveland Association for the Hard of Hearing, said loss of hearing is frequently accompanied by a feeling of inferiority and deafness is often the source of mental conflict.

"Psychiatrists and social workers suggest that the army of social misfits that can be measured by number in number by early diagnosis and readjustment of hard of hearing children," he asserted. "During the past several months three cases have been referred to me from the department of probation of the Cleveland Juvenile Court. I am convinced that these two boys and one girl would not have run into difficulty had their hearing defects been called to the attention of a competent social worker."

Finalists tonight in the central zone lip-reading tournament will be Mrs. E. H. Lartonoix of St. Louis; William Henry Murphy of Chicago; Mrs. Florence R. August of Cleveland; Miss Marjorie Dew of Columbus, O., and Miss Kathryn Mason of Indianapolis, Ind.

About 400 persons either hard of hearing or interested in the welfare of the handicapped are attending the Middle Western conference, which closes tomorrow night.

JEWISH WELFARE CAMPAIGN WITHIN 3 PER CENT OF GOAL

Workers Report $497,330 Pledged in Drive to Continue Through Wednesday.

The Jewish Welfare Fund campaign for $511,937 is within 3 per cent of its goal, workers having raised $497,330, it was announced yesterday at the Hotel DeSoto. The drive will continue through Wednesday.

The youth division, headed by Peter Hirsch, has raised $6088, or 135 per cent of its quota. Both the campaign and the visiting chorus group attained their full quota.

Clarence E. Pickett of Philadelphia, executive secretary of the American Friends' Society Service Committee, expressed admiration for the manner in which the Jewish campaign is being conducted. He reported that the final report meeting will be held Wednesday at the Mayfair Hotel. Purpose of the drive is to raise funds for local, national and overseas charities.

MICKEY ROONEY AS PLAYBOY OF DETROIT IN LOEW'S FILM

"Hardy's Ride High" Is Sixth in Series of Adventures for Family.

The sixth of the Hardy family series of screen comedies, which opened at Loew's Theater yesterday, shows no great variation from the pattern of these pictures but is one of the better ones in the list.

GRAND OPERA DEFICIT DOCTORS SAY INSANITY TOTALLED ONLY $2048 IS NOT HEREDITARY

Rest of $25,000 Subscribed by Guarantors Is Repaid to Them.

Report to Psychiatrists on Studies Tending to Disprove Popular Belief.

Guarantors of the recent grand opera season got back today all but 8 per cent of the $25,000 fund they provided for the St. Louis Grand Opera Association.

The season ended, it was announced today, with a deficit of only $2048. This was taken from the guaranty fund, the balance of which was returned to the 150 individuals and business firms which contributed. Any profit from future seasons would be used to repay this amount to the guarantors.

Expenses for the four operas of the spring season totaled about $26,000, spent for salaries, costumes, scenery and other production needs. Box office receipts were $23,000, and program advertising and librettos produced $1000.

In a letter accompanying the checks, the association pointed out that about $3000 was spent for scenery, costumes and music with a permanent capital value to the organization and available for forthcoming productions. "Frequently these items are carried as capital assets rather than expense items," the letter said. "However, sound financial procedure dictates that the entire amount expended for these items should be written off."

The artistic and financial results of the spring season justify a feeling on your part, as one of its guarantors, of pride and satisfaction in having participated in the creation of a sound and successful permanent grand opera organization in the City of St. Louis," the letter added.

The guarantors were asked to renew their subscriptions for series of productions planned for next fall and spring.

POET ROBERT FROST GETS FELLOWSHIP AT HARVARD

Pulitzer Prize Winner First Holder of New Ralph Waldo Emerson Honor.

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., May 12 (AP).—Robert Frost, Pulitzer prize winner for poetry in 1924, 1930 and 1937, was announced last night as the first holder of a new Ralph Waldo Emerson fellowship in poetry at Harvard University. Frost will reside at Harvard for two years, beginning in September.

Born in San Francisco in 1875, Frost attended Harvard from 1897 to 1899. He was a member of the faculties of Amherst, Michigan and Yale. The fellowship is intended to enable distinguished poets to meet informally with students and perhaps give formal courses, the announcement said.

Methodist Bishop Assignment. KANSAS CITY, Mo., May 12 (AP).—The city of Bishops of the Methodist Church announced last night the annual conferences over which the Bishops will preside. Bishop John C. Broomfield will preside over the St. Louis, Missouri and Southwest Missouri conferences.

CHICAGO, May 12 (AP).—Insanity is not inheritable, it was announced today before the American Psychiatric Association. Until recently it was believed that the child of an insane parent was likely to acquire mental diseases, Dr. Horatio M. Pollock and Dr. Benjamin Malberg of the New York State Department of Mental Health, Albany, N. Y., declared.

However, a study of 330 inmates of state asylums and of their parents, brothers and sisters, and other relatives, failed completely, they said, to show that the diseases followed any pattern of inheritance such as the patterns which hold true for physical characteristics.

They studied, so far as the families would permit, the records of 175 patients with dementia praecox—the split personality disease—and 155 patients with extreme mental depression.

Facts Upset Theory. "According to the old rule we should have found definite ratios of heredity but this requirement could not be met in our family data," they reported.

It is a mistake to infer that the transmission of mental disease from generation to generation is a fatalistic process, Dr. Pollock declared, since the environment in which a person grows is just as important as his heredity.

"There must not only be a seed, but a ground in which to plant the seed," he explained. "Inferior stock may still be enabled through proper nurture, to achieve a life of a fair degree of usefulness. On the other hand we know that even the soundest of stock may succumb to the repeated onslaught of an unfavorable environment."

When Patients Break Their Backs. Mental patients may easily break their backs during "shock therapy" given to restore their minds, Dr. Philip Polatin of the New York Psychiatric Institute told the closing meeting of the association. More than 30 per cent of the patients subjected to mental shocks with metrazol, a drug which temporarily paralyzes the brain, suffered fractures of the vertebrae during the severe phases of the treatment in which violent convulsions may occur. In spite of this, he added, "the beneficial results obtained in the mental condition of insane patients justifies continued use of the drug" and the fractures may be prevented by proper restraints which control the convulsions.

A brain disease in which persons cannot tell right from left or identify the fingers of his hands is a new aid to brain surgeons in removing tumors, Dr. Joseph Gerstmann of Sykesville, Md., told members of the association. Such a condition was not rare, he declared, and indicated the presence of a tumor in the rear part of the brain. Its proper diagnosis enables the surgeon to locate it precisely and to remove it successfully in many cases.

EX-COMMANDER FARNSWORTH AGAIN FAILS TO GET RELEASE

Former Navy Man Convicted Under Espionage Act Is Turned Down Second Time.

NEW ORLEANS, May 12 (AP).—The United States Circuit Court of Appeals yesterday denied a second habeas corpus appeal by John Semar Farnsworth, former Lieutenant-Commander in the Navy, seeking release from a prison term on a charge of conspiracy to violate the Espionage Act.

Farnsworth was convicted in District of Columbia Court of the sale of military secrets to two former attaches of the Japanese Embassy and was sentenced to four to 12 years.

His first appeal was denied on the ground that no counsel appeared to represent him. Yesterday the Circuit Court said his contentions were "without substance."

Farnsworth asserted he was coerced into entering a plea of nolo contendere, that he was deprived of the right of appeal because no counsel was appointed for him and that the trial judge did not exercise his discretion in not allowing him to withdraw the plea.

DR. CARL W. SAWYER HIGH BLOOD PRESSURE ON MENTAL DISEASE

Public Needs to Know It Can Be Treated, Says Marion (O.) Physician.

Although insulin and metrazol have brought favorable results in treatment of mental diseases, there is, nevertheless, an element of danger, Dr. Carl W. Sawyer of Marion, O., told the American Therapeutic Society at the opening of its fortieth annual convention today at Hotel Jefferson.

There have been many spinal fractures and many brain hemorrhages which occurred in the course of administering the new treatments, he asserted. But with those methods and with individual treatment of patients, "marvelous results by therapy have been obtained for mental diseases," he said. One thing that remains to be done, he continued, is to tell the idea to the public that mental disease can be treated.

In his presidential address, Dr. Oscar B. Hunter of Washington, D. C., urged the need for co-operation by the surgeon, general practitioner and pathologist.

"Sometimes co-operation is lacking and indeed the condition goes on to a skepticism, rivalry and even veiled or open antagonism," he asserted.

He also emphasized the importance of having properly trained laboratory workers.

Dr. Francis M. Pottenger Jr. of Monrovia, Cal., discussed a seven-year study he has been making of calcium deficiency in cats and its correlation to similar deficiency in human beings. Regarding calcium needs of children, he said nothing can compare with mother's milk for best growth development.

About 50 of the 156 members of the therapeutic society are attending the two-day convention. General practitioners and members of all specialties are represented.

Dr. Harry Goldblatt of Cleveland Discusses Human Essential Hypertension.

Evidence that disease of the kidney produces human essential hypertension is a type of high blood pressure heretofore thought not to be occasioned by any other disease, was given by Dr. Harry Goldblatt of Cleveland, O., today when he delivered the Lewis A. Conner Lecture at the fifteenth annual session of the American Heart Association at Hotel Jefferson.

Dr. Goldblatt summarized experiments made by him and his collaborators who produced high blood pressure resembling human essential hypertension in dogs and monkeys by means of a special clamp compressing the main arteries carrying blood to the kidneys.

And, when medical treatment used on human beings in such cases was tried on the animals, it was found, Dr. Goldblatt reported, that the basic cause of the condition was not affected. He added, however, that such treatment might influence some accessory factors such as the psychogenic (originating in the mind).

Surgical Experiments. Likewise, the various surgical operations on the nervous system which have been performed in cases of human high blood pressure, failed to prevent or cure the experimental high blood pressure in animals.

However, Dr. Goldblatt added that all these procedures might possibly have an effect by improving the circulation of blood through the human kidneys. This, he explained, could not be done with the animals as long as the clamps remained on the arteries to the kidneys.

When there was a tight constriction of the arteries to both kidneys, the excretory function of the kidneys was reduced and inflammation and degeneration began as in the case of essential hypertension in humans. Constriction of arteries supplying other organs is not followed by development of hypertension, Dr. Goldblatt pointed out.

"The investigations that have dealt with the mechanism of development of this type of experimental hypertension have eliminated a nervous reflex mechanism from the kidney as the cause of the hypertension," Dr. Goldblatt continued. The present conclusion is that a humoral mechanism of renal (kidney) origin is responsible for the increased peripheral resistance that determines the elevation of the blood pressure.

Chemical Nature Not Known. "What the nature of the responsible chemical substance is, how it is formed and exactly how it acts are not yet known. The development of this chemical substance is presumed to be due to the deficient irrigation of kidney tissue with blood. Whether some substance originally in the blood becomes altered or accumulates in undue quantity, or whether something is imparted to the blood by the kidney tissue is not yet known.

"The results of experiments on the effect of partial and complete adrenalectomy (removal of the adrenal glands adjacent to the kidneys) on this type of experimental hypertension indicate that there is no justification for the practice of partial adrenalectomy in the treatment of human hypertension because it is necessary to remove both glands completely before there is a significant effect on the blood pressure.

"Up to the present, the successful practical application of the experimental work has been the cure of hypertension in some children and adults by removal of the kidney when only one diseased kidney is the cause of the hypertension.

"In those cases in which both kidneys are the seat of disease, a surgical operation for the purpose of increasing the circulation of the kidneys has been suggested by the authors on the basis of the beneficial effects on animals. But for human hypertension, the value of such a procedure will have to be determined by trial."

ECONOMIC ISSUES UP IN PRELIMINARY MEDICAL SESSIONS

Pathologist and Physician. Discussing the relationship between the clinical pathologist and the attending physician, he suggested thorough use of staff conference and particularly of chance exchange of viewpoints, specific, objective and clear laboratory reports, and abstention, in pointing out practitioners' errors, from "rubbing it in." The pathologist, he remarked, needs "humility with no trace of servitude, candor without hurt, a little tactfulness and quite a little sense of humor."

Advances in laboratory medicine were reported in other talks this morning, with a symposium on kidney disease taking up the afternoon session.

Relief of Addison's disease by injections of a synthetic preparation was reported in the morning session of the Association for the Study of Internal Secretions by Dr. Kendall Emerson Jr., M. D., George W. Thorn and Dr. R. Palmer Howard of Johns Hopkins University. This glandular disease is marked by low blood pressure, anemia and emaciation.

Following tests on experimental animals, the chemical, desoxy-corticosterone acetate was administered to seven patients kept on constant diet with low salt intake. Weight gains and general improvement resulted. They were interrupted by an experimental lapse in treatment, but rapidly returned when it was resumed.

Necessity for daily injections of the solution was eliminated by implantation of pellets of the crystalline hormone under the skin. Dr. Thorn, who gave the report, illustrated the technique with lantern slides and the results by charts comparing favorably with the results of the usual injections. The pellets were inserted under local anesthesia, caused no discomfort and maintained the hormone requirement for three months without renewal.

Experiments in "mixing" the sex of roosters by injection of a female hormone into the egg in the second and fourth day of incubation were described by L. V. Domm of Whitman Laboratory for Experimental Zoology, University of Chicago. Citing deflection toward the female of both primary and secondary characteristics, Dr. Domm remarked that other studies have dwelt on the masculinization of the female, while the occurrence of similar changes in the male have not been generally admitted.

In all cases of his experiment, he said, the sex of the treated fowl was definite, but some showed hen-

High Blood Pressure Ascribed to Kidneys

Dr. Harry Goldblatt of Cleveland Discusses Human Essential Hypertension.

Evidence that disease of the kidney produces human essential hypertension is a type of high blood pressure heretofore thought not to be occasioned by any other disease, was given by Dr. Harry Goldblatt of Cleveland, O., today when he delivered the Lewis A. Conner Lecture at the fifteenth annual session of the American Heart Association at Hotel Jefferson.

Dr. Goldblatt summarized experiments made by him and his collaborators who produced high blood pressure resembling human essential hypertension in dogs and monkeys by means of a special clamp compressing the main arteries carrying blood to the kidneys.

And, when medical treatment used on human beings in such cases was tried on the animals, it was found, Dr. Goldblatt reported, that the basic cause of the condition was not affected. He added, however, that such treatment might influence some accessory factors such as the psychogenic (originating in the mind).

ROOSEVELT LETTER ON COURT PROCEDURE

He Says Revision Is Needed Along With New Administrative Machinery.

WASHINGTON, May 12 (AP).—President Roosevelt said yesterday he hoped in the near future to see Federal criminal procedure revised and adequate administrative machinery established for the courts.

In a letter to the American Law Institute, the President said these were two steps required to adapt Federal jurisprudence to modern needs.

Bills regarding these points are awaiting action by Congress. One would create an administrative officer in the Supreme Court to direct fiscal affairs and check on dockets for the whole Federal system. The other would direct the Supreme Court to establish procedure regulations and co-ordinate systems in the Federal criminal courts.

Text of Letter.

The text of the letter: "It gives me great pleasure to extend greetings to the seventeenth annual meeting of the American Law Institute. This organization is making a noteworthy contribution to the development and growth of jurisprudence.

"The law is one of the living forces that guide organized society. It cannot remain static, but must be constantly molded and adjusted to the requirements of passing generations and the changes in our social and economic structure. The administration of justice is a bulwark of democracy and its efficiency must be constantly enhanced. More than ever before, the people are conscious of these needs.

"Much has been achieved in this direction in recent years. Among the notable accomplishments in this field is the far-reaching reform in Federal civil procedure, which constitutes an outstanding milestone along the road of law reform. The American Law Institute by modernizing and restating numerous branches of substantive law, and formulating a code of criminal procedure, has been a vital factor in this task of adapting the law to the requirements of modern society.

Simplification Needed.

"Much still remains to be done, however, on both the substantive and the procedural side of jurisprudence. The simplification of Federal criminal procedure by means of judicial rule-making, is still to be attained. The Federal judicial system must be implemented by an adequate administrative machinery. I hope to see these two steps taken in the near future.

"I am informed that the American Law Institute has now under way projects involving the drafting of statutes in the field of criminal justice, and formulating a code of the law of evidence. They constitute activities of vital importance in the general effort to improve our legal system.

"I am glad to felicitate the American Law Institute on what it has accomplished, and to wish it still greater success in its future endeavors."

DIES COMMITTEE GETS ORDER TO INSPECT INCOME RETURNS

Chairman Says Only Those of Persons in Scope of Inquiry Will Be Examined.

WASHINGTON, May 12 (AP).—Chairman Dies (Dem., Texas), was notified today that President Roosevelt had signed an executive order permitting the House Committee Investigating Un-American Activities to examine income tax returns.

While the authority is broad enough to allow the committee to scrutinize any returns, Dies said the committee would confine its activities to looking over those of persons within the scope of its inquiry.

Income tax returns might show unsuspected sources of revenue for individuals who are under investigation and that some of them had not reported all the income they had received.

FURTHER INQUIRY IN DEATH OF REAL ESTATE SALESMAN

Shell Which Killed Rudy Corak Apparently Placed in Magazine of Shotgun After Ejection.

Deputy Coroner Joseph M. Quinn ordered a further investigation today in the death of Rudy Corak, real estate salesman, whose body was found Wednesday morning in the office of the Naert Real Estate Co., 3554 Doler street, with a shotgun nearby.

Quinn ordered the inquest continued after a policeman testified he found the empty shell from the charge which killed Corak in the magazine of the shotgun, a repeater. The discharged shell apparently had been ejected from the gun and placed in the magazine. Police were directed to determine how this could have occurred without someone else being present.

MOTHER TO MEET TWO CHILDREN SHE SOUGHT 3 YEARS

Nears End of Quest During Which She Killed Mother-in-Law.

NEW YORK, May 12 (AP).—A mother's three-year quest for her two children, during which she shot and killed her mother-in-law, neared an end today.

Mrs. Roberta Watters, the mother, awaited reunion with her children, Eugene, 9 years old, and Gaia, 5, after her husband, Oliver, had been jailed awaiting extradition to South Bend, Ind., on a kidnapping charge.

To Magistrate Thomas A. Aurelio before whom her husband was arraigned, Mrs. Watters told this story:

Four years ago she and her husband separated. In 1936, because she could not support them, she took the children to their paternal grandmother, Mrs. Martha Watters, in South Bend, going to work as a children's nurse to earn enough to take them back.

Later she went to her mother-in-law's home. The children were gone. When the elder Mrs. Watters refused to disclose their whereabouts, the younger woman shot and killed her. She was acquitted on ground of temporary insanity.

She resumed the search for her children and learned her husband lived in New York. Yesterday, she saw him and had him arrested.

After a long talk with her husband in a court ante-room, Mrs. Watters said joyfully, "he has agreed to tell me where the children are."

ROBBERS GET $2300 IN BANK; BOOKKEEPER LOCKED IN VAULT

Two Men Get Away With Package of Small Bills at Linden, Ind.

LINDEN, Ind., May 12 (AP).—Two robbers held up the Linden State Bank this afternoon, locked bookkeeper Howard Davis in the vault and fled with $2300 taken from the cashiers' cage. Davis was a prisoner in the vault about 25 minutes before he was released by Cashier L. H. Little, when the latter returned from lunch.

"The two men came in, forced me into the big vault and locked me in," said Davis. "They wanted me to open a small vault, but there was a time lock on it and I couldn't get it open."

On releasing the bookkeeper Little telephoned authorities at Crawfordsville, 15 miles south of here. State police said persons who saw the robbers told them the men drove north on road 43, which leads toward Lafayette. The money taken was mostly in bills of small denomination.

The Governor also sent to the Senate for confirmation the recess appointment of Clarence Evans of Paris, as chairman of the Tax Commission. Evans originally was appointed for an unexpired term which ends June 17, 1939.

VETERAN'S EX-GUARDIAN GETS 6 MONTHS ON GUILTY PLEA

Former Constable at Farmington Penalized for Misappropriating $60 From Ward.

Roy B. Adams, restaurant proprietor and former Constable of Farmington, was sentenced to six months in jail by United States District Judge George H. Moore today on his plea of guilty to an indictment charging him with misappropriating $60 from war risk funds of Cecil O. Hutson, disabled war veteran, whose guardian Adams was from 1933 to last Dec. 1.

Adams listed a $60 expense item in his annual report as payment of a fine assessed against Hutson in an automobile accident, although no such fine actually was paid. Adams told the Court today he had spent the money on telephone calls and other expenses in connection with the accident, and had listed it as a fine because he did not know how else to make out the report.

FAIRLEY TO ADDRESS POSTMASTERS TONIGHT

Will Speak at 'Missouri Catfish Dinner,' Which Will Conclude State Meeting.

Postmaster-General James A. Fairley will speak tonight at the closing session of the fifth annual meeting of the Missouri chapter of the National Association of Postmasters at the Statler Hotel. His address will follow a "Missouri catfish dinner."

Fairley, with Ambrose O'Connell, second Assistant Postmaster-General, and Vincent M. Miles, solicitor for the Postoffice Department, is scheduled to arrive in St. Louis this afternoon. A public reception will be held for him at 5 p. m. in the Postmaster's suite on the third floor of the new postoffice.

The Postmaster-General will autograph several dozen copies of his recently published book, "Behind the Ballot," which is being sold at the convention by the women's auxiliary. Members of the auxiliary said to a Post-Dispatch reporter that 35 copies had been sold and that they expected to sell many more before the dinner tonight.

Congressman Milton A. Romjue of Macon, chairman of the House Postoffice and Post Roads Committee, spoke briefly at the session this morning on pending legislation affecting the postal service. He said the committee was giving emphasis to proposals for classification of pay for fourth class postmasters.

The more than 300 visiting postmasters will be escorted through the St. Louis Postoffice this afternoon, following the annual election of officers. Postmaster W. Rufus Jackson of St. Louis is president of the chapter.

PART FIVE

STATE SENATE VOTES FOR RIVER HIGHWAY

Enabling Act for Participation in Scenic Project.

By a Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.
JEFFERSON CITY, May 12.—An enabling act setting up the majority by which Missouri may cooperate with the Federal Government in the establishment of a national scenic highway from the mouth of the Mississippi River to St. Louis was passed by the Senate last night. It is subject to conference by the House in several amendments.
The project, which is yet in the early stage, is proposed in a bill pending in Congress, and contemplated a tourist highway for leisure-travel, entering Missouri either near Keokuk, Ia., or Hannibal and generally following the Mississippi River to and through St. Louis, and then south through Ste. Genevieve and Cape Girardeau.
On either side of the highway it is proposed to have scenic area development, the area being not less than 200 feet wide, the idea being to have a parkway area equal to 150 acres for each mile of roadway.
The working out of the bill required two days in the Senate. It had been drawn in a Federal department unfamiliar with the Missouri Constitution and procedure in this State.
Handled by Senator Michael Kinney of St. Louis, the bill was put over reasonably acceptable shape by the aid of other Senators.
The State Highway Department was named as the State agency to participate in the survey to be undertaken if Congress passed the necessary Federal legislation, and act as the agency in acquiring the necessary land to carry out the project and convey it to the Federal Government.
The Senate struck from the bill it was originally drawn all provisions committing the State to any immediate expenditure and specially directed that none of the powers granted the Highway Department, with the exception of aid to the surveys, be exercised until the Federal Government made the money grants required for fulfillment of the project.

Haney Lost the Argument, But Clift Got His Man

FRED HANEY, manager of the Browns, arguing with Umpire Rue regarding his calling of balls and strikes in yesterday's game with the Yankees (left). At right, Harland Clift, Brownie third sacker, is tagging out Charlie Keller, Yankee outfield recruit, as he attempted to go from first to third on Selkirk's single in the sixth inning. Rupert Thompson made a perfect throw from right field to retire the runner. The Yanks won, 10-8.

Five-Sport Show At Concordia

Five sports are included on the program of Concordia Seminary's centennial field day tomorrow at the seminary grounds, 801 De Mun avenue.

Concordia will meet Concordia Seminary of Springfield, Ill., in a dual track meet in the morning, starting at 10 o'clock and the first three events in the afternoon will pair host teams against the St. Louis Walthers League.

A volleyball game is scheduled for 1 p. m., a softball contest at 1:30 and at 2:30 the Walthers League tennis team will oppose Concordia's six-man squad. Carl Goller is captain of the Walthers League.

Concordia will oppose the Piney Woods touring Collegians of Piney Woods, Miss., in baseball as the feature of the day at 3:30 p. m. Al Schmidtko, who has won several intercollegiate League games for Concordia, is scheduled to pitch.

Entertainment is also planned tomorrow night on the seminary grounds.

SHOOT ACE ON FIRST HOLE AT TRIPLE A

Joe Walsh yesterday drove the ball from the tee into the cup, 234 yards away, for the third hole-in-one ever recorded on the first hole at Triple A. Par for the hole is three. Walsh, a director of the club, was playing in a threesome with Tom Williamson and Joe Hartman.

Others who dropped their tee shots were Dave Ford and John Cavanaugh.

M'KINLEY DROPS FIRST GAME IN TITLE CAMPAIGN

McKinley, defending baseball champion of the City High School League, was handed its first defeat of the 1939 campaign when the Goldbugs were tamed by a catcher turned pitcher. Marvin Golish, Southwest's regular catcher, took over the pitching assignment yesterday afternoon and trimmed the Goldbugs on two hits, 4 to 1, at the Public Schools Stadium.

The defeat dropped the Goldbugs into second place, half a game behind Central, which won at C. B. C. 14 to 0, in six innings in an inter-league match. Central's record is 4-0 and that of McKinley, 4-1.

St. Peters of St. Charles defeated Chamblaine, 3 to 2, in a Catholic League game and in a non-league encounter at Jennings the host team defeated Ferguson, 10 to 6.

She has handled successfully several horses of prominence, probably under the watchful eye of her canny daddy.

It will be a "double" for the ladies, therefore, if Trainer Mary puts over Clencia tomorrow.

Filles don't as a rule beat colts, especially in the spring. Normally they are rated at 5 pounds less in handicapping values. Clencia will enjoy that sex margin when she meets Johnston.

THIS CIENCIA has done things. After two conditioning races early this year at Santa Anita, the daughter of Cohort-Science swung into her stride.

First she won a 2-year-old stakes in the first Derby of the year, the 1:37-1/5, coming from behind to win by three lengths, eased up.

In her next start she defeated a lot of Kentucky Derby colts in the first Derby of the year, the $50,000 Santa Anita, again coming from behind. And was she behind! Her call was: 13-13-9-2-1. And she won by five lengths in 1:50-2-1.

So you see her owner is justified in hoping that she may grab another $50,000 plum. But, we fear it will be just too bad for the lady because in addition to this wow horse, Johnston, there is also to be considered Gilded Knight, which seems almost as good as Johnston. Then there is Challeon, of the mighty stretch run, second to Johnston in the Derby. There is also Alfred Vanderbilt's good one, Impound, second to Gilded Knight in a recent stake. Volitant, another pretty good one, will also be in the field.

All in all, it seems now that Clencia, although a real good racer when competing against one of her own sex or fairly good colts, will be just another Helen Stephens trying to beat Jesse Owens, with Johnston in the field. In their respective spheres each is tops. But it's bad business trying to beat colts with filles.

It Has Happened.

THE LAST TIME a filly won the Preakness was 15 years ago, when Nellie Morone, owned by Cartoonist Bud Fisher, romped home ahead of Transmute and Mad Play, the race having been extended to one and three-sixteenths miles that year.

Only once has a filly won the Kentucky Derby. And from here it appears that King Ranch & Co. can kiss that first-place Preakness money a fond farewell.

WILL SHE BE ANOTHER DELILAH?

THE filly Clencia will get her opportunity in the Preakness tomorrow to become the Delilah of racing. At least she will have a chance to give Johnston, 1939 turf Samson, a trimming.

Our idea, however, is that her chance is remote; that when the race is run Johnston will be first at the finish with all his hair, while the potential Delilah will remain merely Clencia.

Here, owner, however, must have a different notion. Clencia is in the race only because of the K. I. G. Ranch proprietor was willing to pay a $1500 extra charge to place her there, he having neglected to nominate the filly regularly in 1937 when the stake book opened.

There is some chance to get her entrance fee back, however, since the Preakness is a rich race worth over $70,000 gross. Of this sum, $10,000 goes to the second horse, $5,000 to the third and $2,000 to the fourth.

At this writing it is probable that there will not be more than six starters, unless it rains—and that means Clencia could win back her entrance fee.

IN CASE THE TRACK is off to a considerable degree, there's no telling what will happen. If it's freshly made slop, then Johnston and Gilded Knight will battle it out just as if the track were fast.

If it's heavy and holding, there will be Challeon and Impound, both good mudders, to consider. But in this event the favorite's price on Johnston will be elevated considerably.

There is no line on Johnston in the mud, but his statement, Challenge, will then be entered as the stable's extra mud reliance. You will still have to string with Johnston until he's beaten, wet or dry. He's a race boss, boys.

Mr. Fitzsimmons' Quandary.

TRAINER SUNNY JIM FITZSIMMONS, the "grand old man of the turf," who rates with Hildreth and Keene among the great trainers of all time, is in a quandary. At least we assume he is, because he has an unusual problem confronting him.

It's this way: He is training Johnston for William Woodward and Gilded Knight for the Wheatley Stable.

Therefore he will have to give instructions to jockeys on both horses how to ride so that each may beat the other! Whichever wins, one of his clients will lose. And he would dearly love to see both racers win.

Since this is most unlikely—a dead heat would approximate it—he would prefer to see Johnston win because he, having won the Derby, has the better chance to go on and set a record by running unbeaten in all the great stakes of his division.

But, Fox, another star trained by Fitzsimmons from Woodward, almost did that, he having been defeated once—when Whicome and the Fox ran themselves into the mud in the Travers Stakes, permitting a player, Jim Dandy, the only other entry, to come from behind and steal the victory.

WHAT DOES FITZSIMMONS think about it all? Well, he likes Gilded Knight—to run second. He admits he doesn't yet know just how good Johnston is. He hasn't been asked to turn on the heat as yet.

The fact that Gilded Knight and Johnston are trained by the same man compels the coupling of this pair in the betting. This will mean practical prohibitive odds against the entry, either of which, according to experts, could win the race with the other in the stable.

If Johnston carries on and wins the Belmont, too, he'll probably repeat the career of Man O'War. After that mighty racer's second start in his three-year-old career, he frightened all but one or two opponents out of subsequent races. On seven occasions only one other horse opposed him and only two in two other instances. Odds against Man O'War ranged from 1 to 3, in his duel with John P. Grier, in his 1 to 100 in his race against Damask, after his second start as a three-year-old.

Johnston has shown quite as

GOLDEN GLOVES CHAMPIONS FACE EUROPEAN STARS

CHICAGO, May 12 (AP).—Amateur ring stars from five European nations battle eight Golden Gloves boxers, survivors of a field of 25,000, in the eighth annual international tournament tonight with the invaders determined to triumph for the first time since the series began in 1931.

The bouts will be fought in the Chicago Stadium before a capacity crowd of 21,000, climaxed by amateur boxing's largest tournament of the year.

The eight European boxers, from Italy, Finland, Sweden, Ireland and Estonia, are winners of an European tournament conducted at Dublin last month in which 12 nations competed.

Since 1931, when the Chicago Golden Gloves conquered France, five to three, no European team has whipped the American squad. Germany, won by the Chicagoans, four to four, in 1932 and in 1937 a team composed of boxers from Italy, Germany and Poland gained another tie.

Each bout will be three rounds of three minutes each.

The pairings for the international bouts:

113 Pounds—Willie Moon, Chicago, vs. Olli Lehtinen, Finland.

119 Pounds—Charles Ellis, Kansas City, vs. Guido Nardache, Italy.

126 Pounds—Roy Lewis, Muncie, Ind., vs. Patrick Dowdell, Ireland.

135 Pounds—John Piesanti, Chicago, vs. Egino Peire, Italy.

147 Pounds—William Paul, Detroit, vs. Eric Agren, Sweden.

160 Pounds—Jimmy Reeves, Cleveland, vs. Anton Randik, Estonia.

175 Pounds—Ragun Kliney, Hariman, Ark., vs. Louis Munna, Italy.

Heavyweight—Aluis Allen, Chicago, vs. Nemesio Lazzari, Italy.

SPORTSMAN'S PARK, May 12.—Jack Kramer, seeking his third victory of the season, pitched for the Browns this afternoon in the first game of a series of four with the Detroit Tigers, who were making their first appearance of the season in St. Louis. Alton Benton was on the hill for the visitors.

AS YANKEES TAKE SERIES FINAL, 10-8

Manager Fred Haney called on five Brooklyn pitchers in yesterday's series final with the Yankees, but only Bill Trotter was able to hold the enemy and a big early lead enabled the New Yorkers to score a 10-8 victory.

It was Buck Newsom's turn to pitch, but he reported a sore finger on his pitching hand and so Ewald Pyle started, but failed to retire a man in the first inning and the Yankees scored two runs. They continued their attack against Russ Van Atta in the second, with four runs, and in the fourth with three, and so it was that when Bill Trotter went to the hill the Browns were trailing, 9-3.

The Browns kept pecking away at the lead and in the eighth two runs put Haney's men only one run short of a tie, but the visitors clinched their game with one more tally in the ninth off Ed Cole and Harry Kimbrell after Trotter hurled four scoreless innings.

Monte Pearson pitched for the Yankees, but was batted out of the box in the seventh, Johnny Murphy finishing.

There were 30 hits in the game, 15 by each club, and George McQuinn distinguished himself with a double and three singles in five times up.

Guldahl Probably Finest Golfer the Game Ever Has Known, Armour Thinks

By W. J. McGoogan

There are two things that Tommy Armour loves to talk about. They are golf and baseball, or perhaps the two should be reversed, because he really is more interested in talking baseball than golf.

But while he watched the Yankees defeat the Browns at Sportsman's field, he was playing in the Professional Golfers' Association tournament in Dallas. We were rooming together and had been for four years.

Hagen was the Best. "I was drawn in the tougher bracket while he had somewhat easier half. I went along winning my matches with 66 or 68. He was winning with 74's. Never broke that figure until we met in the semifinals.

"The night before we played, he told me what a cinch it was to win that he couldn't break 74, etc. You know, he kept me up until 4 in the morning telling me about it.

"I thought I was getting the business and the next day I knew it. I shot a 68 in the morning round and was 4 down to his 64. All day I was 10 under fours and got licked, 4 and 3. "And to make it worse he went out in the final round and beat Al Espinosa with a 78. What a guy! The point is, of course, he could play just as well as he had to and he could beat me the best day I ever saw," Tommy finished laughing.

"You know the only time I saw Walter was in a match with Johnny Revolta when Johnny was bunkered five times and halved every hole with Hagen who never missed a green. The dynamiter again! Walter said to me 'I've done that lots of times, Tommy, but never like that' and he walked off."

Tommy also paid tribute to Gene Sarazen as a competitor, saying that Gene was always at his best when the going was the roughest.

All of this took some of Armour's attention from the ball game and you could see that he was glad to fix his eyes again on the Browns and Yankees.

You wondered why a native born Scotchman who had played golf all his life should be so interested in baseball and you asked him.

"Because it's the skill and precision necessary in the game which you love to see," he replied, "I got my baseball education from John McGraw at Sarasota, Fla., and I learned so much from him that I came to be a baseball nut. I still am, and proud of it."

Armour was here for a short visit with the professional golfers of this district and returned to Chicago last night.

A Bunch of Dynamiters. "Except Guldahl, they're all a bunch of dynamiters," he said, "I mean by that they know how to drive a ball off a tee, then they use the dynamiter, that club which has mechanized the art of playing out of a trap and onto a green. It's a heavy soled niblick, you know, and the weight at the bottom makes shots out of a trap easy.

"Why it used to be you'd come into the locker room after a round of golf and say, 'I had a 72 but I missed three greens. Missing greens was considered bad. Now they don't even talk about it. They get out of trouble with the dynamiter.'"

Would Tommy legislate against the dynamiter? You asked. "I pointed out the use of that club to the president of the U. S. G. A. some months ago," he replied, "and told him it was hurting golf. He asked me for a solution against the club could be legislated how the club was naturally I had to tell him that there was no solution to the trouble visible at this time."

Well who does Armour consider the greatest competitor among the dynamiters? You asked. "I pointed out the use of that club to the president of the U. S. G. A. some months ago," he replied, "and told him it was hurting golf. He asked me for a solution against the club could be legislated how the club was naturally I had to tell him that there was no solution to the trouble visible at this time."

—Bealr Stud-Wheatley Stable entry.

BALTIMORE, May 12 (AP).—Johnstown and six other three-year-olds, one of them a filly, were entered today for tomorrow's forty-ninth renewal of the rich Preakness stakes over Pimlico's cushiony footing.

The names of all seven had been placed in the hands of the racing secretary 45 minutes before the closing deadline for entering. Only six, however, were slated to go postward when the jockey blows tomorrow, making it the smallest Preakness field in 24 years.

With William Woodward's long-striding son of Jamestown a top-heavy favorite to add this mile-and-three-sixteenths gallop to his Kentucky Derby win of a week ago, the other five likely starters entered were Mrs. Ogden Phipps' Surprise Package, Gilded Knight, which is likely to be paired with Johnstown as an entry; R. J. Kleberg's Chalcedon, the little filly which ran off with the Santa Anita Derby; Alfred G. Vanderbilt's Impound, which was left out of last week's Kentucky classic in order to be in tip-top shape for tomorrow's outing; W. L. Brann's crack mud-runner, Chalcedon, second to Johnstown a week ago; and Saratoga Stable's unpredictable Voltant.

Woodward also entered his Challenge, but this giant bay is a doubtful starter unless it comes up plenty of mud.

Those entered today were the survivors of an original eligible list of 322, nominated for this $50,000 added stake as yearlings.

So impressive has been Johnstown in his four three-year-old outings to date, winning them by a total of something like 25 lengths, that most of the owners of eligibles didn't even bother to ship their horses here, much less drop their names in the entry box. Chances are Woodward's "Mr. Big" and his running mate will return about 20 cents on the dollar if either wins.

Johnstown and Gilded Knight, which won the Chesapeake Stake, will go postward as the Sunny Jim Fitzsimmons entry, since both the Woodward and Phipps stables are under the training wing of "Mr. Fitz." Just as he did a week ago in the Derby, Woodward kept Challenge eligible, so if the track turns out sloppy tomorrow, Sunny Jim's entry will be a trio.

Breaks of the Game.

Phil Cavarretta, Cubs' outfielder, became the latest victim of an old medieval custom when in attempting to steal second base his spikes caught in the bag and broke his ankle. The old army game must go on.

In spite of broken bones galore, And tendons slashed and gobs of gore, They just go on the same old way, And let the breaks fall where they may.

Why Not Now? The quaint old custom of equipping chairpot wheels with scythes blades went out with chariot racing. Baseball will get around to it eventually.

May 11 found all the clubs so closely bunched the tallenders were only five and one-half games out of first place in the American League and three games in the National. It is just an old spring custom. It is anybody's race until they get straightened out.

ND the clubs would all make money, Like a farmer making hay, If they bunched 'em in September As they do in early May.

Trend of the Times. The world arises To inquire— And another Judge Quits under fire.

Surprise! When the Phillies returned to the old cellar home Wednesday, they found that they had the Giants as house guests. That old Quaker hospitality will be served.

Let's Go. LL eyes are now on Pimlico, Where Johnstown next is billed to go. Some think that gallant Gilded Knight Against him may put up a fight, And if he has a single weakness, It may develop in the Preakness.

Dave Coble, a rookie catcher of the Phillies, caught a baseball tossed from a tower 521 feet high. The impact was so great that he went right through the cellar door on top of his teammates.

To show how cockeyed this National League pennant race is, the Pirates had to climb over the shoulders of the Giants to get out of the cellar.

The way those Yankees romped over the Browns Wednesday afternoon you'd think they had never heard of such guys as Lou Gehrig and Joe Dimaggio.

For the first time this season, Fred Haney took the blanket off Howard Mills, who showed his versatility by giving the Yankees one run and one hit, six bases on balls and striking out four in four innings. That's mixing 'em.

Principia Beats Eden. The Principia College baseball team defeated the Eden Seminary nine, 5 to 2, in a game on the Principia diamond at Elmhurst, Ill., yesterday afternoon. Coach Clark's team rallied for four runs in the fourth inning. Principia beat at home tomorrow afternoon for a game with the Washington University Bears.

Y. M. C. A. Golf Meet. The entry list for the Y. M. C. A. Industrial golf tournament will close tomorrow. The qualifying round will be held at The Country Club May 20 and match play will start May 27.

No-Hit Game in Softball League

Monty Montavani, ace pitcher of the Griseledick softball team at St. Louis Park, pitched no-hit, no-run ball to gain a 28-0 victory over the Tobacco Workers last night.

Paced by Joe Kessler, who collected three triples and a double four times at bat, the Griseledick batters pounded out 19 hits, scoring eight runs in each of the fifth and sixth innings.

Montavani allowed only four hits in the first game at Maplewood Park Grandma's Cakes and Cola, two of the favorites for past honors, battled to a 10-inning 1-0 tie. The game was called due to a ruling of the American Softball Association not permitting girls to play more than 10 innings.

STAGG HONORED ON HIS 50TH ANNIVERSARY AS FOOTBALL COACH. SAN FRANCISCO, May 12 (AP).—Amos Alonzo Stagg, who has spent a half-century coaching football because "I wanted to teach young men to become, not only athletes, but citizens of America," today admitted a full-sized gold football presented to him last night at a public dinner.

The gray-haired, deeply tanned coach, who will be 77 years old in August, was visibly moved when he received the gold football bearing the inscription "1890-50 years span for the grand old man—1939."

Stagg was head coach at the University of Chicago for 41 years. He refused, and he came to the Pacific Coast to take charge of football at the College of the Pacific in 1933.

Case Records of a PSYCHOLOGIST

By Dr. George W. Crane
Of Northwestern University

CASE M-112: David M., aged 25, is to be married next month. "Because of our Illinois laws requiring medical examinations within 30 days prior to marriage, Janet and I know we are free from disease and are sound in body," he laughed. "I trust we are sound in mind, too," he added with a grin. "But I'd like a little advice on an appropriate wedding present for my wife. What would you advise, Dr. Crane?"

DIAGNOSIS: The intelligent bridegroom of today presents his wife with a life insurance policy. Worry is defined as a form of daydreaming in which you imagine yourself the "goat" instead of the hero or heroine. One of the best methods to keep worry out of your domestic life is to make some provision for the financial security of your home. Regardless of your income, you should save a part of it.

For most young couples, the only saving possible is the money paid on the life insurance policy. These premiums can count on your household budget as savings. They are just like money in the bank.

Life insurance is an investment in happiness, too, for it immediately relieves both husband and wife of uncertainty regarding the future. Most wives enter marriage expecting to have children.

Let me tell you of a specific safeguard for your bride and your children. It is my favorite form of life insurance and is called the "Family Income Policy." I have several of these policies to protect Mrs. Crane and our five youngsters.

FOR A MAN of David's age, the annual premium is $25 per year per $1000, but the dividends reduce this sum to about $20. For the next 20 years after the policy is issued, it would pay 1 per cent of the face value per month, and then the full sum at the end of the 20 years.

Let me show you how this works in my own case. I recently took out another of these policies for $10,000. If anything should happen to me now, Mrs. Crane would receive $100 per month from this policy for the next 20 years, after which she would also receive $10,000 face value of the policy.

David is making $35 per week. If he saved but $2 out of that salary, he could carry a $5000 family income policy, thus guaranteeing his bride $50 per month for the next 20 years. If auto accident or disease should remove David, his wife would not be left with a baby or two, and hardly enough to carry her through the next two or three years. If David lives, the insurance reverts to an ordinary policy at the end of the 20 years, after which he can alter it as he sees fit, and draw dividends when he retires from active work.

IDEALLY, THIS family income policy is designed for wives and children. But I'd give it on my wedding day as an appropriate present for my bride.

Remember, too, that you can borrow on a life insurance policy, so it can be a source of quick funds in time of stress. It serves as combined savings and protection. And always have your policy made out to your wife, then to your children, then to your other relatives, etc., so it cannot get into the courts in case both of you were to die together.

Freedom -- By Elsie Robinson

YOU want freedom. All your life you have felt that something was holding you back. You didn't know what that "something" was. When you were young, you thought it was your parents. When you went into the world, you decided it was poverty, or social injustice, or perhaps illness, or lack of education.

But always you have felt that something outside you was holding you back. And you've longed to be free. You're still longing to be free, aren't you? In spite of the fact that many of those earlier handicaps have ended, you still feel bound—still "want out."

And you find the same longing in everyone you meet. Beneath their gay laughter or their solemn silence, they, too, are tortured by the same restlessness and resentment. Even though they may be enjoying all those things which seem to you to be most desirable in life—health, wealth, success, power—they, too, want to be free.

BUT, ONCE in a while you chance on people who seem to be really free, and it's always a surprise. For amazingly, their material condition often seems much worse than yours. Seldom are they wealthy. Sometimes they are extremely poor, often very sick, with countless troubles which surely should worry them. Yet they seem to have discovered some secret release.

You wonder what it is. How can lives so afflicted be free? Where can you find freedom such as theirs? And once again you scan your horizon, hoping to find the secret of freedom there in some lucky, outward circumstance.

You'll never find it. Freedom doesn't lie outside you. You can't find it in money, or in fame, or in pleasure.

COOK-COOS

THE MAN IN THE STREET. From time to time we try to reach out and grasp people by the collars and drag them into the relentless white light of publicity—to pierce the shell of obscurity and plumb the minds of people who, in our opinion, have something significant to say. Today, for example, we approached Abner B. Wholeyoke, a sidewalk engineer, superintending steam shovel work in the downtown district. While we do not carry a portable microphone, we do this work with an ear trumpet and a typewriter suspended from our neck. We ask questions and write down the answers, which are then turned over to our sorting department. After polishing and preserving, we present the information to you.

"Well," we said to Mr. Wholeyoke, "how's tricks?" "Okay," he replied. "How's every little thing?"

The conversation went along in this manner during the initial or maneuvering phase. A "prelude, of course, to vital questions. "Tell us," we finally said to "A. B.," as we soon called him, "have any suggestions that would contribute to a more orderly civilization?" "Yes, I have," he answered, quick as a flash. "I think there should be educational programs on the radio between 8 and 9 in the morning and 7 and 8 at night."

"Why?" we asked. "Why?" he exclaimed in an exasperated tone of voice. "Why? I'll tell you why. So as the women would go into the kitchen and get their dirty dishes out the sink."

There is one difficulty in the international situation that will loom larger as time goes on. How are the debunks going to blame the next world war on the late Sir Basil Zaharoff?

Clean Flower Vases

The flower vases should be washed well with soap and water even if you are just replacing the old blooms with new. A light rinsing will not do away with the bacteria from the wilted flowers, and this will hasten the death of the new blooms. Wash the vases well and rinse before putting in the fresh water.

A Good Investment

A pair of snub-nosed scissors just for the kiddies is a good investment in many ways. They are not only less likely to hurt themselves with the rounded tips, but they are not so apt to borrow mother's scissors to cut out paper dolls or use for other things that would remove the sharp edge in a minute.

Education fails in its duty when it doesn't produce in its graduates a feeling of idealism. Education on the physical level alone, the instruction in worldly selfishness that is too often delivered to the student, develops man too much in

Dear Mrs. Carr:
An elderly mother cannot stand the St. Louis heat during the summer months. Coming from another climate she suffers terribly when forced to stay here at that season. Could you tell me of a place, not far distant from St. Louis, where she could stay and, perhaps, do her own housekeeping? Since my mother's finances are very limited, it would have to be some place that is moderately priced. What do you think of the Ozarks and how could I find such a place?
GERT.

Letters intended for this column must be addressed to Martha Carr at the St. Louis Post-Dispatch. Mrs. Carr will answer all questions of general interest but, of course, cannot give advice on matters of a purely legal or medical nature. Those who do not care to have their letters published may enclose an addressed and stamped envelope for personal reply.

Dear Mrs. Carr:
I AM A BOY 15 years old. I have been going with a girl seven months, taking her to shows, etc. Do you think it would be appropriate for me to give her a little present before I go away with my parents for the summer? If not that, could I send her something from the East after we arrive? I have about $2.50 to spend.
I WONDER.

I believe she might get more of a thrill from a little remembrance from out of town. First, mail an attractive card to her, perhaps showing some of the attractions of the place you are to live for the summer months. If she replies or acknowledges this, which would be the right thing for her to do, even if she replies only with a card, you can then, after a few weeks, send her some moderately priced souvenirs. I am sure she would be pleased and it would be spreading the reminders of yourself a little more.

Dear Mrs. Carr:
WILL YOU advise me on how I may get some help for a very nervous family? They have a paralyzed son, 24 years old, who injured the cut in a child's face and charged the parents $5000. Just along the line, it is not entirely surprising that some of the most famous rates in history were doctors, and as yet he cannot feed himself. I am now be put in a wheel Gossie's learned treatise, "History of Piracy," there was a surgeon who had a regular share in the loot of the pirate. Several of my friends have pieces of furniture which they have offered this family and I have several things I will be glad to give. I thought it would be a fine thing if they could get enough furniture to start housekeeping so that the mother could keep boarders or roomers and not have to leave the house and neglect the boy. They have lived in the city about two years and I understand are not on relief.

Of course, your plan is fine, and if you are sure you can secure the money and can plan this ahead in a businesslike way, it would be a wonderful help. I believe before going further it might be best to ask the suggestions of some of the organizations with experience in this kind of planning and perhaps they could, too, inform you of places where help might be had. The Visiting Nurses' Association would, I am sure, give aid in the care of the boy, if the case comes within the sphere of their work.

Dear Mrs. Carr:
I AM A GIRL in my last 'teen year. I have seen girls of 16 and 17 have many dates, but I never seem to be able to do this. My parents do not object to my having male companions, providing they approve of them. Now I want to go out with boys, but it's the same old story of the past years. I am not bad-looking and have nice clothes. Please, Mrs. Carr, won't you try to find a solution to my problem?

If you will send a self-addressed envelope for my "Popularity" leaflet, I am certain you will find in it many helpful suggestions.

SOCIETY GIRL FASHION DESIGNER

Sally Green Got Idea for New Shirtwaist Creation From Costumes Worn by Indian Tribe

By Virginia Irwin

TO illustrate what a smart girl can do with an idea, take the case of Sally Green. A few years ago Sally was one of St. Louis' society buns. Today she's known as the originator of one of the slickest shirtwaists ever designed for the fair sex. Swank Eastern shops have snapped up the privilege of selling them. Vandervort holds exclusive rights for St. Louis. And Sally is knee deep these days in business—all because she saw an Indian out around Albuquerque, N. Mex., and got an idea.

Out in New Mexico the Indian men of the isolated Isleta tribe wear shirts with embroidery insertion. Seems it's an old Indian custom and what every well-gressed Isleta Indian wears. Sally took one look at these shirts and then took a notion to go into the shirt business. She had an expert dressmaker make up some models and from then on she went to town. "Embroidery is so good now as a decorative motif," Sally explained, fingering her crisp white waist with the Indian embroidery, "and my shirts fell right in with the trend. Best & Co., in New York, telegraphed me a contract the day my agent showed them my shirts. And there I was with nothing but a few samples—no manufacturer to make them, no idea of how you go about such things, no business knowledge at all. I was actually scared to death."

As the deal turned out, Best & Co. suggested a manufacturer for Sally's shirtwaists—and the rest of the business was comparatively easy. Sally got herself a lawyer to see that she didn't sign any bum contracts. She had her name registered in the Patent Office in Washington and let her agent, Beatrice Kroeger, former St. Louis girl now turned fashion illustrator, handle the Eastern end of the sales angle. Sally, herself, is doing the promotion in this part of the country. For the present, but she expects to get right back to New Mexico and go to work on "about a million other ideas" she has tucked away in her mind. In just a short time, Sally has learned a lot about manufacturing, advertising, promotion, contracts and salesmanship and she doesn't intend to let the knowledge go to waste.

"I wish I had my own factory," Sally confessed this rather startling wish for a young and not very big young lady. "If I could make these shirts in my own factory, I'd make so much more money."

In addition to the shirts, Sally has designed a shirtwaist dress trimmed with the Indian embroidery. This dress has the embroidery on the blouse, across the blouse yoke in the back, at the cuffs and has a petticoat with Indian embroidery peeping below the hem. Another of Sally's ideas is a nightgown trimmed with this embroidery and a little peasant apron similarly trimmed.

"The Indian men use only white embroidery in their shirts but they wear colored shirts under their white shirts and the colors show through the insertion and the holes in the embroidery," Sally explained. "Now I knew that no woman would wear two shirtwaists, so I put my colors right in the embroidery. The sleeves of the shirts are supposed to be pushed up to bracelet length, and bracelets worn to show below the cuff, just like the Isleta Indians."

The daughter of Mrs. John Leigh Green and the late John Leigh Green, 12 Kingsbury place, the diminutive Sally attended Mary Institute here and finished at the Spence School in New York. Grinning, Sally suggested, "Maybe you'd better say that Spence's finished woman who was once his wife and a member, Sally doesn't think she's accomplished exactly a miracle, but she is pretty proud of the way her father's reputation in St. Louis for doing the unpredictable and wearing the unusual, Sally is particularly remembered as the St. Louis debutante who refused to go bashful before royalty."

Sold for a Song

CHAPTER THIRTY.

KYLE didn't stop in the living room. He led the way into a den which was off the main room and down several steps. While Marie was looking around puzzled he closed the door, and slipped the lock silently. Then he went to the windows and shut them.

"She isn't here yet," Marie muttered as she took a chair. "If you mean Andrea, she isn't coming."

"I thought you said—"

"Just you and I are here, Marie, in this house, and you and I are going to remain here until you tell me what you know about the purse which was found in Billy Marquand's chest."

He was calmer than he thought he would be. All the nervousness that had come with the swift planning was gone. The cigarette he took from a case on the table and lighted tasted good to him, and the fingers that flicked out the match were steady and sure. He could even smile as Marie rose from her chair indignantly and stalked to the door to shake the knob.

"I have the key here, so don't bother about trying to open that door. I told you you were here to stay until you told the truth about Mrs. Emery's purse."

"I don't know anything about Mrs. Emery's purse. I never saw it until that detective showed it to me when he found it in Billy's room." She rattled the knob again, and ran to the window to open the catch.

Kyle got up quickly, caught her by the shoulder and led her firmly back to a deep leather chair. "You're to sit there, until I tell you to get up! Do you understand me?"

"This is kidnapping, Mr. Newton! Mrs. Emery will—"

"We'll forget what Mrs. Emery will do for awhile. We'll concentrate on her purse, and how you put it in Billy's chest."

She sat glaring at him, and then she bared her teeth and let out a scream.

In the narrow closed room, it echoed against the walls, a piercing wall. Kyle was prepared for it. "I don't mind if you scream—you can yell your head off. Nobody's in the house to hear you, the walls are thick and the doors and windows closed so nobody outside can hear you. You're just wasting your breath."

Again and again her screams rang through the room. Her face was crimson with her effort. Kyle didn't move. He was sitting on top of a small cocktail table, smoking and looking at her. Now and then he dipped his ashes slowly into a tray on the table.

"Are you ready now to tell me about the purse and how you put it in Billy's chest?" he asked when she stopped shrieking from sheer fatigue.

"I don't know anything about the purse—I've told you that—" she returned in a hoarse whisper. "When Mrs. Emery finds out about this—"

"She isn't going to find out, Marie, until you confess to me your part in the deal. You're not going to get out of here until you tell me what you know about the purse. Get that through your and I didn't put any purse in Billy's chest."

Then there was Andrea's voice once more, and the exercises which she was singing, and Marie's face getting grayer and grayer.

"She'll break eventually," Kyle said to himself when an hour had gone by, and he had lost count of how many times the records had been played.

His movements at the machine were mechanical by now, and there was a little heap of cigarette butts in the ash tray on the table. Some of them were still alive, glowing in the ashes. The smoke in the room was thick.

Once when he was changing a record, the telephone on the desk rang. He let it ring and ring before he started up the machine again. And once, he thought he heard what must be the front door bell ringing, but he made no move to see who was there. The venetian blinds were drawn tight, and only a subdued glow of the afternoon sun crept through them.

It was nearly four thirty when Marie cried, "Stop! Stop it, I'll tell you!"

"Have you had enough, Marie? Really enough? You're ready to tell me what you know about the purse? You're ready to sign a complete confession, and stick by that confession?"

"I don't know anything about the purse—but stop — I can't stand her singing any more!" She tried to raise her arms, she was struggling within the leather handgates. A stream of perspiration was falling down her face from her forehead. Her hat was off. Kyle had laid it on the table. The pins had come out of her hair and it was loose on her shoulders.

Kyle was warm, too. He mopped his brow, constantly, and his coat was thrown on the couch. He went to it now and took a notebook from one of the pockets.

"You're ready for a confession?"

"No—no—I don't know anything about the purse—only Andrea, stop her! I'm going mad!"

He laid the notebook on the table and went back to the machine. "She's going to sing until you tell me what you know about the purse, Marie. She's going to sing and sing and sing as I told you she would, and as I planned she would."

"No! No!"

THE needle slipped onto the track, Marie stopped her struggling, wet her lips, opened her eyes. "Stop!" She screamed above the voice of the record. "I do know about the purse—I know all about it—I'll tell you what I know—"

Kyle took off the needle, but did not stop the machine. "You're ready, then?"

"Yes! Yes!"

"Because we still can have some music."

He clicked the knob that turned off the electricity, and pulled the chair close to the one Marie occupied. Her eyes were closed, and her head lay back against the leather of the chair weakly.

"Where do you want me to start?" she asked without opening her eyes.

At the beginning. When Mrs. Emery broached you about putting the purse in Billy's chest. His pencil poised and ready, his notebook on his knee.

"She didn't come to me, I went to her. I knew she didn't want Andrea to marry Mr. Westcott, and I knew—how much Andrea thought of Billy. I thought that if we could make Andrea believe Billy had taken something of Mrs. Emery's—"

Mrs. Emery could have anything she wanted from Andrea.

"Mrs. Emery liked my idea, she thought of the purse, and while I was with her in her bedroom she put the two bracelets into it and the $500 in bills and gave it to me to put some place in Billy's room. She showed me another purse which was almost identical, and said the purse I had wouldn't be missed."

"I had the purse in my room with the bracelets and the money in it for about a week before I put it in the chest in Billy's room. I was waiting for a good time, and Mrs. Emery didn't want me to do anything until Mr. Westcott had left."

"It was easy getting into the chest—I had been in it before—it only took a small nail file to force the lock, and I used the nail file in Billy's room."

"When I spoke to Mrs. Emery about the plan, I didn't know that she wanted Andrea to marry Mr. Christian. I didn't know anything about that. She didn't tell me. I thought she didn't want Andrea to marry anybody—she hinted at that, and I took it for a fact."

"I've been helping her all along with Andrea, telling her things I heard around the house. That's all I know about the purse. I swear it. She gave it to me, Mrs. Emery did. I put it in the chest, and I lied to the officers about it later, and so did Mrs. Emery—"

FRESHLY ROASTED . . . FRESHLY GROUND TO YOUR ORDER

Imagine! Thousands who formerly paid high prices now save up to 10¢ a pound by serving fine fresh Eight O'Clock Coffee. It sounds impossible, but it's absolutely so. The reason? It's simple as A, B, C. A&P's own resident coffee buyers in South America go to the plantations where the best coffee grows, and buy the pick of the crop. These choice coffees are rushed direct to you. All the extra handling charges and in-between profits are done away with. These savings are shared with you. But a lower price isn't all you get. You'll notice how flavorful and satisfying A&P Coffee is. That's because it is expertly blended at A&P's nearby roasting plant to bring out the full flavor and rich aroma, roasted to perfection, then speeded by fast truck right to your A&P store without delay. Still in the bean, it retains all of nature's rich goodness. Not until you buy Eight O'Clock Coffee is it ground—right before your eyes—exactly right for your coffee maker. And fresh grinding is the secret of a cup of good coffee! That's the whole story. Why not join the thousands who are saving up to 10¢ a pound on fine, fresh Eight O'Clock Coffee? Stop in at your A&P store today! Buy a three-pound bag of Eight O'Clock—America's largest selling coffee.
